

British Scientist Convicted Of Giving Secret To Russia

LONDON—Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the Jekyll-Hyde mastermind of British atomic research, was sentenced to 14 years in prison today on his plea of guilty to betraying the topmost atom bomb secrets to Communist Russia.

At the close of a swift trial in historic old Bailey court, the Lord Chief Justice, Baron Goddard, flayed the 38-year-old German-born scientist as an ingrate refugee who had bitten the hand that fed him and had done "irreparable harm both to this land and the United States of America."

The trial lasted only an hour and a half and only one witness was called—British security officer William J. Skardon, who told the court how Fuchs confessed to giving top atomic secrets to Russian agents over a period of seven years.

The witness was called by the defense. He said Fuchs had cooperated fully with authorities and that without the confession, could not have been charged.

The owlish, bespectacled genius was given the maximum sentence for violation of Britain's official secrets act. At no time were any details of the secrets he betrayed disclosed publicly. He was charged on four counts.

Despite Fuchs' apparent attitude of contrition, his lawyer, Derek Curtiss-Bennett, told reporters "an appeal is being considered."

Fuchs, the man who confessed to deliberately splitting his personality so he could serve both Communism and his British benefactors, pleaded guilty to passing information to Soviet agents here and in Boston, Mass., and New York. As Britain's top atom researcher, he had been in the U. S. between 1943 and 1945 with the British Atomic Energy Commission and had access to the most secret information. He knew the secrets of Los Alamos, N. M., where the first atom bomb was assembled.

Described by the prosecution as "disillusioned and ashamed," Fuchs announced after the trial he had also committed some crimes other than the ones with which I am charged," He said he cooperated with the authorities in the hope of atoning for such crimes.

Fuchs spoke softly—so softly that his heavily accented words could scarcely be heard by the spectators.

He thanked the court, saying "I have had a fair trial."

Fuchs was arrested on a tip by the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Government officials said today that Russia's new currency change probably marks the beginning of the period of "ruble diplomacy" in exploitation of the Communist satellites.

Evidently the Russians are also trying to use the ruble as a propaganda weapon even beyond the Communist area by showing it off as a monetary unit even more dependable, in their claim, than the American dollar.

While they speculated along these lines, state department people said it may be some time before the full intentions of the Kremlin are clear. The monetary moves announced yesterday in Moscow became effective today.

They cover three lines of action. Prices on a number of consumer commodities, including flour, potatoes, beef and wine were cut the ruble was switched from a dollar standard to gold as a measure of its value; and the value of the ruble was increased from about 19 cents to about 25 cents.

Diplomatic informants said the price cuts had been rumored in Moscow for several weeks and in fact had been expected earlier this year. The announcement now, a short time before the Russian election, is regarded as being timed to give the Russian people a piece of good news. However, the real value of the cuts to the Russian workers is questioned by authorities here, since Russian prices rose 100 per cent in 1946 and cuts since that time have not restored the early post-war level.

Many Michigan Schools Have Coal Vacations

(By The Associated Press)

These are "coal vacation" days for children in many Michigan communities, and hundreds of thousands of Detroit youngsters will join them Friday.

With temperatures low and forecasts of more cold to come, the state's coal situation loomed more critical by the day.

When classes are over this week, all but eight buildings in Detroit's vast public school system will close for the duration of the coal shortage.

Some city and rural schools in various sections of the state already have closed their doors to save fuel.

At Jackson, the public high school and two intermediate schools will close after today (Wednesday) and the board of education planned a meeting to decide what other schools would come under the order.

East Jackson and Concord high schools have been shut, and those in Michigan Center and Parma expect to take similar action this weekend.

Rationing Started

Detroit's fuel conservation order did not affect Wayne University, the University of Detroit or most parochial schools. All have supplies to last a while longer.

Olivet college is the state's only institution of higher learning to shut down completely because of the coal shortage. But others are feeling the pinch. Michigan State has been staging its athletic events in the afternoon to save diminishing stockpiles.

While the lack of fuel cut its wedge deeper into Michigan educational facilities, five Michigan communities were placed on an emergency rationing program by Gov. Williams.

They are Detroit, Coldwater, Vassar, Redford township in Wayne county and South Lyon in southeast Oakland county.

In each case, available coal stocks are frozen for rationing to the most needy customers. At Coldwater, retail stores will be closed each Wednesday until the emergency is over.

Several other cities and towns, including Dearborn and Port Huron, have asked state fuel administrator Donald S. Leonard for permission to take similar moves.

Blaze Wrecks Spokane Hotel

SPOKANE, Wash.—(AP)—A million-dollar hotel fire was controlled early today after a six-hour fight by 230 firemen.

More than 250 guests and permanent residents of the 200-room Ridgely hotel in the center of the city business district fled from the building or were carried to the streets. The adjoining Halliday hotel—a six-story structure with 85 rooms—was evacuated when flames threatened it.

A Red Cross emergency center said it had checked in more than 250 evacuees without a report of serious injury. Four firemen were overcome by smoke.

Estimate of the damage was made by a Spokane realtor and business properties manager, Theodore Galland.

Pressure Increases To End Fuel Famine; Dim Hope Glimmers

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government today completed its case in the contempt-of-court trial of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

The UMW moved for a dismissal of all the contempt charges brought because the coal miners have flouted a Feb. 11 court order that they return to work.

Judge Richmond B. Keach denied the motion and told UMW attorneys to go ahead with their defense.

For disobeying Judge Keach's mandate, the union can be heavily fined. Lewis and the UMW have paid $2,130,000 for two previous court showdowns during strikes.

That added some pressure to Lewis' side of the bargaining table as negotiators were called back to contact talks at 11 a. m. EST.

Some close observers believed that a sudden settlement might lighten any fine Judge Keach would be inclined to impose for the 18-day defiance of his order by 372,000 striking miners.

On the other hand, the operators were under pressure, too. Their idle mines were costing huge sums of money to keep up, without much chance of ever recovering the lost profits.

The growing shortage of fuel added new towns and cities to the list of those where save-coal efforts were intensified.

President Truman's council of economic advisers reported that the coal strike has changed the optimistic outlook for business in the first half of this year.

Without any confirmation from the White House, there continued to be talks that Mr. Truman might seek power to seize the mines in the name of the government, to get out urgently needed coal.

Starting today, they'll get virtually the same amount for doing nothing. There's one difference, of course. Five dollars today isn't what it was 30 years ago.

The historic Ford pension plan, guaranteeing $100-a-month pensions including social security, officially went into effect today.

Acting President Of China Blocks Return Of Chiang

By ROBERT EUNSON

NEW YORK—(AP)—A high Chinese source said today that Nationalist China's acting president, Dr. Li Tsung Jen, will not step aside for the announced return to power of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The generalissimo announced in Taipei, Formosa, yesterday that he had "decided to return to the post of president from March 1." He also announced he was taking command of China's forces for a last ditch stand on Formosa against Communist forces.

The source, who asked not to be identified by name, said Li, who is in New York, would tell a press conference this afternoon that he "wasn't prepared" to resign as chief of the Chinese Nationalist government.

The source, a Chinese authority, who was a member of the assembly that wrote the Nationalist constitution, said Li was going to claim he actually was president and not "acting" president.

Stays In Seclusion

This source said Li would invoke Article 49 of the constitution, which says in part:

"In the event of the president's office becoming vacant, the president shall succeed to the presidency."

The generalissimo resigned Jan. 21, 1949.

Li, who was vice-president, became "acting" president.

Since Li came to the United States three months ago, the duties have been in the hands of the president of the Yuan, a sort of premier.

Li underwent an operation for stomach ulcers in the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center here last December. He was released from the hospital late in January, and went to an undisclosed address in the fashionable Riverdale section of the Bronx for convalescence. He has since remained in seclusion.

Regardless of the outcome of the reported feud between Li and Chiang, Dr. Hu Shih, former Chinese ambassador to the U. S., said "There is no question of a government in exile."

Grand Rapids Safe Crackers Get Nothing At Car Tag Bureau

GRAND RAPIDS—(AP)—Two would-be safe crackers, lured by swollen deadline receipts at the State Auto License Bureau, fled empty handed under a fusillade of police bullets early today.

The thieves would have been disappointed anyway, Bureau Manager Charles Lawler said. He had banked most of the money from last-day sale of 2,800 license plates.

The bandits had succeeded in knocking the dial off the safe when residents in an apartment over the license bureau heard sounds and called police.

Detectives Celnery McConnell and George Lynch exchanged more than a dozen shots with the armed pair after surprising them fleeing from the building.

Coal Strike Idles Nearly 600,000

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Soaring unemployment stemming from the soft coal strike neared the 600,000 mark today—with no end of the walkout in sight.

Some 200,000 furloughed workers in coal-using industries have joined the 372,000 striking United Mine Workers in swelling the idle total.

The nation's soft coal supply is down to 56 days.

And there is a new threat of a shortage in hard (anthracite) coal.

The 60,000 UMW anthracite diggers are working a three-day week while their own contract negotiations drag into the 13th week.

The soft coal negotiations have been going on sporadically since last May.

Some soft coal is being dug by non-union miners working independent mines. However, yesterday a group of strip (surface) mine operators charged they are being subjected to a "reign of ter-

Utica Shooting Takes 2 Lives; Wife Wounded

Divorced Hamtramck Man Goes Berserk

UTICA, Mich.—(AP)—Trying to make peace between a quarreling divorced couple, Michigan Conservation Officer Lee S. Cummings was slain yesterday by the angered ex-husband who then wounded the woman and took his own life.

Witnesses told State Police John Skurya, 39, of Hamtramck, aimed his 16-gauge shotgun carefully and fired on the 52-year-old conservation man from 13 feet.

Then he seriously wounded his companion, 27-year-old Marie Kinsler of Detroit, put the barrel of the gun to his temple and pulled the trigger a third time. Half his head was shot away.

Cummings, who fell mortally wounded in the road in front of his own home, died on the way to St. Joseph Mercy hospital in Mt. Clemens with his wife and daughter at his side.

Miss Kinsler was treated at the hospital for wounds in the leg and thigh.

Woman Runs

Cummings, veteran of 22 years with the state conservation department and director of the Utica-Rochester recreation area, was in the workshop at the rear of his home when Skurya's car sped down the road and halted as it ran into a snowbank.

Mrs. Elmer Grauerholz, whose husband was in the shop with Cummings and two other men, saw the car and called to them.

She told state troopers Miss Kinsler bolted from the auto and started running up the road, with Skurya shouting after her: "Take you home if that's all you want. Come on back."

He went after the woman and they started quarreling in the street, Mrs. Grauerholz said, at which point Cummings stepped between them.

"If there is something you want to settle, come into the house and we'll talk it over," the witness said he urged.

Skurya didn't answer, but instead walked over to his car and took out the gun, according to Mrs. Grauerholz. She said he fired twice at close range, felling Cummings and Miss Kinsler, and then reloaded the gun and shot himself.

Cummings was the father of five grown children, four sons and a daughter.

Ferris Carries On Despite Big Fire

BIG RAPIDS—(AP)—Spring term classes convened today for nearly 1,000 Ferris Institute students despite the disastrous fire Feb. 21 which wiped out the school's two main buildings.

Most classes were being held in the Trades and Industry building, only slightly damaged by the blaze, and in barracks-type dormitories hastily converted to class-room use during the past week.

Chemistry students met at Big Rapids high school for laboratory work.

Milk Prices Drop Here

One-Cent Reduction Takes Effect Today

Milk became one cent per quart cheaper here today and cream was reduced in price two cents per pint.

The reduction in retail price was effected by Delta County milk distributors to decrease loss incurred on surplus milk sent to cheese factories and condensing plants.

During the winter months, county dairies generally increase the number of producers from whom they take milk, to have a sufficient supply for customers when milk production is low. This period of the year is the flush season for milk production. A high surplus will be incurred until July when production again tapers off.

The present price, 17 cents per quart for pasteurized milk and 18 cents for homogenized milk, is the lowest since the war time period, when milk prices were fixed by the government. Heavy cream will now retail for 28 cents per pint, and coffee cream for 18 cents per pint.

Butter prices are expected to remain the same.

Milk distributors here have indicated that this price reduction is probably the only one which will be effected this year. They cite government price support and the high cost of feed as factors prohibiting further reduction in price.

Some county dairies ship as much as 2,000 pounds of surplus milk daily to cheese factories and condensers during the heavily production months. By decreasing the price, distributors hope to increase consumption of whole milk.

Award Is Won By AP Writer

NEW YORK.—(P)—Associated Press Correspondent Wayne Richardson, who voluntarily risked heavy naval gunfire in China to score an exclusive news beat, has been cited for "courage, integrity and enterprise above and beyond the call of duty."

The Overseas Press club announced that Richardson had won its George Polk Memorial award. Richardson, 51, the only newsman aboard the Flying Arrow of the Isbrandtsen line, sent out a series of exclusive stories over the ship's radio before and after it was shelled.

He sailed voluntarily on the ship which recently was shelled 38 times and set afire by a Nationalist Chinese gunboat as he was trying to pass the blockade off Communist-held Shanghai.

Richardson achieved another exclusive beat after the damaged ship put into Tsingtao for repairs. He was the first American correspondent to provide first-hand reports on conditions in a Chinese Communist city since the Reds forced western newspapermen out.

Richardson was chosen for the Overseas Press club's top award from 30 nominees, voted on in a mail ballot by the 650 members, all present or former foreign correspondents.

The award is named for the young American correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System who was assassinated nearly two years ago while covering the strife in Greece. The award carries a $500 prize.

The club also announced these other awards:

Best reporting from abroad: Joseph Newman of the New York Herald Tribune, for a series on life in Russia.

Best interpretation of foreign news: Joseph and Stewart Alsop of the Herald Tribune.

Best radio reporting of foreign news: Bill Downs of CBS, for his reports on the Berlin blockade and airlift.

Best radio interpretation of foreign news: Edward R. Murrow of CBS.

Best television reporting and interpretation: Ernest K. Lindley of Newsweek magazine.

Best photo reporting from abroad: Henri Cartier-Bresson of Magnum photos, for pictorial coverage of the Communist conquest of Shanghai.

Ocean perch mature at about 11 years.

Open House Is Planned

Technical Students Hosts On March 14

Open house for parents and interested persons will be held at the Catherine Bonifas Technical school from 7 to 9 p. m., March 14. Lyle Shaw, director, announced today.

Regular classes in welding, auto repair, machine and woodshop work, printing and drafting will be held on the evening of March 14, to permit observation work done in the school. Approximately 100 students will be at work on regular class projects that night. They represent about one-half the total school enrollment.

Arrangements are being made by Lyle Shaw, auto repair instructor; Ray Shaw, drafting instructor; John Nicholas, woodshop instructor; George Grab, printing instructor; Don Iverson, welding instructor; and Joseph Petryk, machine shop instructor. Assisting them are the following home room officers: Lloyd Olson and Ralph LaFave, welding; Harold Frans and Burton Lund, drafting; Alf Nelson and Arthur March, machine shop; Dick Wiles and Leslie Desmond, auto shop; Howard Larsson and Michael Franks, printing; and Peter Anderson and Marvin Horchner, woodshop.

This is the first open house held at the school in three years. It has been planned in response to requests from many interested persons. Catherine Bonifas technical school was opened here in the fall of 1943.

Souvenirs and prizes will be offered at the open house.

Cancer Society Of U. P. Meets

Two Day Conference Ends At Marquette

The first meeting of the newly constituted Upper Peninsula Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society was ended yesterday at Marquette, with physicians and laymen from many parts of the U. P. attending the two-day session.

Delta county Cancer Society was represented at the meeting by Henry Boyle of Bark River, president of the local society; Mrs. A. M. Gilbert and Mrs. James R. Fitzharris of Escanaba.

A board of directors and permanent officers and an executive committee were elected. Don M. Pearce of Marquette is chairman, Mrs. August Pavaglio, Iron Mountain, is secretary. Mrs. Pavaglio is the U. P. district commander for the American Cancer Society.

For representation, the Upper Peninsula was divided into three sections, with one physician and one other person from each of the areas.

The central section, including Delta county, is represented by Dr. F. J. Dewane of Menominee and Mrs. A. M. Gilbert of Escanaba; the western section is represented by Dr. R. C. Retallack of Iron River and Mrs. B. D. Kennedy of Ironwood; and the eastern section by Dr. G. A. Shaw and Mrs. J. Joseph Herbert both of Manistique.

Discussions were held on how to make the Cancer Society's educational and service program more effective. Allen G. Miller, Grand Rapids, Michigan Cancer Society

Five Minor Fires Here Yesterday

Escanaba firemen were called to five minor fires yesterday afternoon. Only one house, the Bert Webber residence at 304 South 19th street, was damaged.

Firemen were called to the Webber home at 5:45 p. m., where a roof fire caused damage estimated at $50. Other fire calls were to the Edith Dufour home at 331 North 16th street, at 4:30 p. m., where an oil stove was overheated; to the Gust Anderson home on Lake Shore drive at 5:30 p. m., on a chimney fire; to the Ethel LaFleur residence, 1015 First avenue north, at 10:47 p. m., on a chimney fire; and to the E.

Oldest Garden Resident Has No Birthday This Year

GARDEN—Fred Beach, oldest resident on the Garden Peninsula, is 94 years old, but he had no birthday anniversary this year. He was born on February 29, 1856, leap year, so his bona fide birthday parties come only every four years.

Remaining in the city of his birth, Thorsau, Quebec, Canada, for twenty-five years, he worked in Florence, Wis. and Crystal Falls before settling in Garden in 1886 to work for Van Winkle, running a lumber camp, bossing a crew on the Fishdam River and finally on the boom at the Van's Harbor mill. Discontented with the slow financial progress made, he then ran a saloon for 15 years until his business began to decline with that of lumbering. He purchased the farm north of town now being operated by the Jerry Reno family and remained there until 1920 when he and Mrs. Beach, the former Eugenie Godbout whom he married in 1888, retired to live in town at the foot of the Church Hill.

An ardent sportsman he took up a homestead on the plains north of Garden in 1918 and received the deed in 1921. From this vantage point he fished, hunted and trapped until checked by physical disability.

His wife died on Oct. 10, 1935 and in August 1937 he married Mrs. Matilda Caron who passed away a few years later.

With activity at a minimum, Mr. Beach while away the time by reading his newspapers and listening to the radio, and thus preserves a keen mind.

No End In Sight For Chrysler Strike

DETROIT—(AP)—The Chrysler strike finishes its fifth week today, with an end not yet in sight. The union is seeking funding of money in a pension plan offered by Chrysler, and a voice in its administration.

It also has indicated that it would accept a 10 cent an hour wage increase in lieu of the $100 a month pensions, including social security for workers age 65 after 25 years service. The walkout, which began Jan. 25, has idled approximately 130,000 Chrysler and supplier plant workers all over the nation.

Students Work On Operetta

"Sweethearts" Will Be Staged March 21

"Sweethearts," beloved Victor Herbert musical comedy, will be presented by Escanaba high school music students in William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 21. Rehearsals for the operetta have been underway since mid-January. Miss Jessie Wick directs the production.

The Escanaba high school string ensemble, under direction of Mrs. Clara K. Somers, will furnish musical accompaniment for the musical show. Sets are being designed and constructed by high school art students, who are working under Miss Margaret Kranstover, art instructor.

Approximately 100 students will participate in the two-act operetta, for which Irene Steen is student director.

In the cast are Carol Leiper, as Dame Paula; Suzanne Lindstrom, Marilyn Anderson, Elaine Beck, Joyce Bolger, Edith Gasman and Bernice Finn, as the six daughters; Roger Horchner, as Prince Franz; Fred Johnson, as Lieutenant Karl; Dick Erickson, as Captain Laurent; Joan Frasher, as Liane; Joy Goldberg, as Sylvia; Dick Cota, who plays Aristide Algernon Slingsby; Jim Prokos, who is the Caniche; Jim Chapekis, as Mike Mikelovisky; Douglas Eden, who is the footman, and Jack Cloutier, who portrays Petrus Van Tromp.

Marquette Proposes Change In Charter

MARQUETTE, Mich. — Eleven persons, including one woman, have filed nominating petitions for the charter commission election to be held in Marquette Tuesday, April 4.

The nine receiving the largest number of votes will be named to the commission. Deadline for filing petitions is Monday, March 13. Marquette voters in the April 4 election also will decide whether charter revision will be undertaken. An advisory vote in last fall's election indicated a majority of voters wanted the manager system of administration written into the charter.

Paper Workers Hold Meeting

Industrial Relations Man Is Speaker

"Every man has a competitor, from the industrial manager to the rank and file employee and if a company is to be progressive or even remain in business everyone must do his job well," was the statement of L. M. Lenzi of the Mead Corporation industrial relations department at a monthly business and dinner meeting of the newly organized Escanaba and Mrs. Fred Derouin, Mrs. Orville Driscoll, Mrs. Bernice Glass, Iron Mountain; Mrs. Leif Olson, Detroit; John Noblet, Gladstone. Solos of the mass were sung by Mrs. Elmer Bonifas, Mrs. Raymond Olson sang Pie Jesu at the offertory and O Meritum Passionis at the close of services.

Paper Company Supervisory club Monday night at the Delta hotel. The speaker pointed out in his address that the supervisor's job is not an easy one for he has both the welfare of his men and that of the company to consider, and he emphasized that in a changing world it is necessary to meet changes, to look upon them as a constant challenge and to instruct in the method of meeting these changes.

In conclusion, he said, "creative thinking is an important part of a man's job. When creative thinking stops and we are content to rest on our laurels a company soon becomes stalemated and is left in the dust of its competitors." The music of the evening included accordion numbers by Lawrence Bowden.

The new club meets monthly to discuss mutual problems and enjoy an evening of social relaxation.

Press Carrier Struck By Car

Norman Seguin, 13, Has Leg Injury

Norman Seguin, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Seguin of Bay View, today is receiving treatment in St. Francis hospital for injuries sustained at 4:30 p. m. yesterday when he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle on US-241 near the Escanaba river bridge in Wells township.

Examination is being made to determine whether the left leg is fractured below the knee. The boy also suffered shoulder and arm bruises.

The accident occurred about 100 feet north of the bridge as the boy, a Daily Press carrier, was riding his bicycle south on the right edge of the pavement, according to sheriff's officers who investigated the accident. An auto driven by Miss Marilyn Auskis, 16, of 944 Stephenson avenue, also traveling south, struck the left side of the bicycle. John Auskis, father of Miss Auskis, told officers he was teaching her to drive. The injured boy was taken to the hospital by Auskis.

Summoned into Justice Henry Ranguette's court on a charge of permitting a minor to operate his auto without a driver's license, Auskis today paid court costs of $6 and a $10 fine was suspended.

Ishpeming Also Has A Water Problem

THE City of Ishpeming will conduct a special bond election March 21 at which the voters will decide whether the city shall issue bonds of $675,000 for improvement of its municipal water system.

In many ways the Ishpeming problem is similar to the problem confronting the people of Escanaba. Both problems concern a common need, a reliable, safe and adequate water supply. The amount of money needed by each of the cities to solve its water problem is about the same. The cities have each determined that if bonds are issued to improve the water systems, the bonds should be general obligation bonds, rather than water revenue bonds, although in each case the bond retirement would be made from water department revenues. General obligation bonds pledge the faith and credit of the city as security and thus usually carry a lower interest rate than water revenue bonds, which are in effect a mortgage on property and revenues of the water department alone.

Ishpeming's problem, however, is the result of an inadequate water main system. Escanaba's water mains are on the whole in pretty good shape but the city's water filter plant is obsolete and woefully inadequate.

The voters of Escanaba will determine on April 4 whether they are willing to bond the city for a sum that could run as high as $700,000 to solve the municipal water problem here. If the answer is negative, the solution to the problem will simply be postponed. In the meantime, there will be a continued gamble that the present filter plant will not break down. It is a poor gamble from the standpoint of public health, safety and convenience.

Fire Protection Policy Illogical

IN view of the refusal of some townships of Delta county to assume responsibility for reimbursing the Escanaba fire department for fire calls made to those townships, the city fire department may well reconsider its policy in responding to fire calls in those areas.

The present policy is an intolerable one from the city's standpoint. The fire department receives the names of individuals residing in the townships that have purchased fire protection policies from insurance companies. The theory is that when calls are received from any of those township homes, the city fire department is expected to respond and to later bill the insurance company for the claim. Not all township homes are protected, however. Obviously it is futile to scan a list of insured owners before responding to a fire call in the townships. Time is the most important single factor in fire fighting. Time lost in scanning a long list of insurance purchasers may mean the difference in saving a home or not saving it.

Township governments logically cannot shun the responsibility for fire protection in their jurisdictions, any more than the City of Escanaba could shun the fire protection responsibility for the people of this city. The plan which makes the city of Escanaba work out separate agreements with every individual property owner in any township is unworkable and illogical. Certainly the taxpayers of Escanaba can hardly be expected to absorb the cost of providing fire protection to the individual townships.

Either the townships should develop their own fire fighting system or they should assume responsibility for paying for this service from the City of Escanaba or the City of Gladstone.

Prison Population Still Climbing

THE prison population in Michigan has reached an all-time high of 8,752 inmates, according to figures recently announced by Corrections Commissioner E. C. Brooks. The state prisons were designed to accommodate a maximum of 6,612 inmates in cells so with more than one-third over capacity, the problem of handling the prison population has become really serious. There is even talk of building more prisons to meet the situation.

Is the increase in prison population due to a lowering of public morals? Perhaps this is one cause because it is generally agreed that there has been a reduction in the moral standards of the people, not only in this country but in other lands as well. Other factors, however, are probably even more important reasons for the increase in prison population.

The general population of Michigan has shown an increase, for one thing. Better crime detection methods, resulting in the apprehension of more felons, are another major contributing factor.

Eventually it will probably be necessary to construct more prisons to accommodate the larger numbers of criminals being sentenced to penal institutions. But the legislature will never appropriate large sums of money for this purpose now. The need for more state hospitals is even more acute than the need for more prisons. Reformatories and industrial schools for delinquent minors are another need that supercedes the desire for more prisons.

The present trend in dealing with criminal juveniles is to place them upon probation a series of times, simply because the industrial schools and reformatories are so overcrowded that only the worst cases can be admitted. Few can deny that this policy contributes to the penal problem.

Priced Out Of The Market

MARQUIS CHILDS, a columnist of liberal views who has often taken the side of labor in industrial controversies, recently discussed some important long-term aspects of John L. Lewis' policies as they affect the soft coal industry, the miners, and the public. In part, he said, "The demands that Lewis has been able to enforce because of his monopolistic hold have created a distortion with serious implications for the whole economy. It has contributed to price rises that have steadily pushed up the whole price level. As a result many Americans—in agriculture and outside the unionized industries—are being priced out of the market."

"If enough people are priced out of the market, it will be quickly felt in a lessening demand for consumer goods. Even a mild depression would be likely to play havoc with the welfare system that Lewis has got out of the coal industry; a system that has little relation to actual soundness."

The foregoing is the big point, regardless of what happens in any particular strike or shut-down or dispute. The miners, naturally, want the best contract possible, the highest wages, the shortest hours, the pension benefits and all the rest. But what good would these things do them if the market for coal steadily dwindles, because the price to the consumer was too high and, consequently, there were fewer and fewer jobs?

Any group—whether it be a labor union or an industry—which tries to force extreme demands, regardless of the effect on the rest of the nation, is riding toward destruction.

CATTAILS

Cattails hold gray, wind-blown berets above winter-faded grasses of swamps and sloughs. They are members of the sedge group of plants; they have solid stems instead of jointed ones—as do the grasses. Along in late summer when the deep-brown, syndical heads paint a picture in the low spots, they remind one of inverted exclamation points. There are about 10 species of cattails in a single genus; they are found in the temperate zone around the earth. Ancient artists frequently used the slender leaves and striking blooms as motifs in their work. When pioneers settled this country they gave the sedge plants folk names: cat-o-nine-tails, marsh pestle, marsh beetle, bull-segg and water torch.

Indians gathered cattail roots in the spring and ground the starchy tubers into a flour; some tribes also gathered the tiny flowers on the tops of the spikes and boiled them. We know from old records that the early Virginia settlers ate cattail soup made from the blooms. Indian squaws gathered the soft, cottony down from the matured blossoms and used it to line the babies' cradle boards that squaws carried on their backs. Pioneer housewives push the plith from dried stems and used them for candle rods.

Few people know that cattails have creeping rootstocks; the main stem grows sideways and sent up numerous new leaf stems each spring. Eventually the main stem decays and each of the new stems becomes an independent plant. Thus in a few years a single plant can cover an extensive area of marsh or lowland. It is interesting that the slender leaves point upward to prevent shading of the stems and are covered with a waxy substance to prevent water adhering to them. We take cattails for granted; but if you will study them closely you will see they have a graceful beauty peculiarly their own.—By Haydn Pearson.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

HANDBOOK OF PRACTICAL ENGLISH (Scrapbook Item)

Q. My English class will be grateful for one of your sane explanations on the use of "most" and "almost." Even I myself am a little vague about the words.

A. Most and almost should not be confused. Most means, "nearly all; all but a very few." Almost means "all but; nearly; a little short."

My long-haired assistant, Dr. Etain Shrdlu, describes the misuse of "most" for "almost," as: "Humph! A dialectal aphetic mislocation. Moreover—humph!—we should give consideration to the fact that aphesis is a form of aphoristics."

Boiled down to plain United States, his pedantic gabble simply means that we should not lop off the first syllable of "almost." For instance:

Wrong: "Most everybody were there." Right: "Almost everybody was there."

Wrong: "I am most nearly through reading the book." Right: "I have almost finished reading the book."

Wrong: "Most all the money is gone." Right: "Almost all of the money is gone."

How to use "most" correctly: Most men are honest. Ten dollars is the

British Election Arouses Doubt

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The outcome of the British elections can give almost no one any satisfaction. The net result is that for the better part of this year Great Britain will have an insecure government suffering from semi-paralysis.

CHILDS

A few Republicans and some Southern Democrats seem to think this is a situation which can be exploited to push Socialism all the way out of the British picture. They are hinting that American aid should be held back to encourage the Conservatives still further when the inevitable next election comes up.

To undertake anything like that would be dangerous business. It would inject the issue of American aid and American partisanship much more sharply into the next contest. This might occur in such a way as to give the Laborites a definite advantage. Administrator Paul Hoffman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson have asked for $2,950,000,000 in ECA aid for the coming fiscal year. Any sizeable cut in that amount would be likely to mean a proportionately greater cut in the allocation for Britain.

FINANCES IN POOR SHAPE

Britain is not in precisely a robust financial state at the moment. There are American officials who feel that, on the contrary, the condition is one of considerable delicacy. The patient has begun to improve since devaluation, but convalescence is almost entirely dependent on spoon-feeding from America.

To slash the ECA aid by a third or a half would be likely to produce one immediate result—unemployment. In an election to be held in October or early November, the Labor party would blame that unemployment on the failure of America to live up to a prior commitment. The failures of the government itself would be glossed over.

With a healthy majority and a renewed confidence, a labor government might have set out to cure the suppressed inflation and take off some of the strangling controls even though this might mean a sacrifice of some of the fruits of so-called full employment. A Conservative government with a workable majority of 40 to 60 seats would certainly have undertaken to reverse many of the trends of the past five years.

Now there can be only a pause until lines are re-formed and the voters permitted a brief respite from oratory. The new election can scarcely be earlier than May or later than November. Unless parliament takes action to revoke it, the act nationalizing the steel industry becomes law on January 1, 1951.

NOT SO FUNNY

If it were not so serious, there would be something almost comic in this spectacle of a great people caught on a knife-edge of indecision. All the members of both major parties will have to spend most of their time in the house in readiness for a possible tie vote. That will be distinctly uncomfortable, since the house chamber holds hardly more than half the total membership even with standees. The new chamber now under construction will be almost as limited, since the feeling has always been that a small chamber nearly filled has a better look than a large chamber almost empty.

In at least one constituency, Coventry, so many voters appeared that the ballots were exhausted. Late comers were told that they could petition the king for a new election because they were deprived of the privilege of voting. The incumbent, Richard Crossman, who has moved from the left wing of the Labor party to the center, squeezed through. The Conservative candidate, T. B. Meek, exploded in wrath, saying the government seemed able to find all the paper in the world for ration books but they couldn't find enough for ballots.

The Labor government will have to get some agreement on a budget due at the end of March. That will probably be the most that can be achieved before a new trial of strength.

In a time of grave uncertainty, Britain will in effect have no government. Something like the same condition exists in France as a result of the narrow margin by which the Bidault regime has been getting by. And here in Washington, what with the guerrilla warfare waged by some Republicans and the long-standing battle between executive and legislature, we can scarcely say that we have a government capable of coping with the challenge of a divided world.

There may be some small consolation in the thought that a democracy can survive without a strong central government. The habit of responsibility and self-discipline will carry through. In a dictatorship without a powerful central government, the whole structure goes to smash. But in times like the present, that is cold comfort indeed.

Most I have ever paid for a hat. She is prettier than most girls of her age. Of the three boys, he is the most honest. Most of the money has been spent.

Q. Will you please show the proper plural and possessive forms of the "in-law" words?

A. These forms are correct: Singular: She is my sister-in-law. Plural: They are my sisters-in-law.

Possessive singular: This is my sister-in-law's child. Possessive plural: These are my sisters-in-law's children.

The same rule, of course, applies to all other "in-law" words.

Q. Is my brother-in-law's wife my sister-in-law?

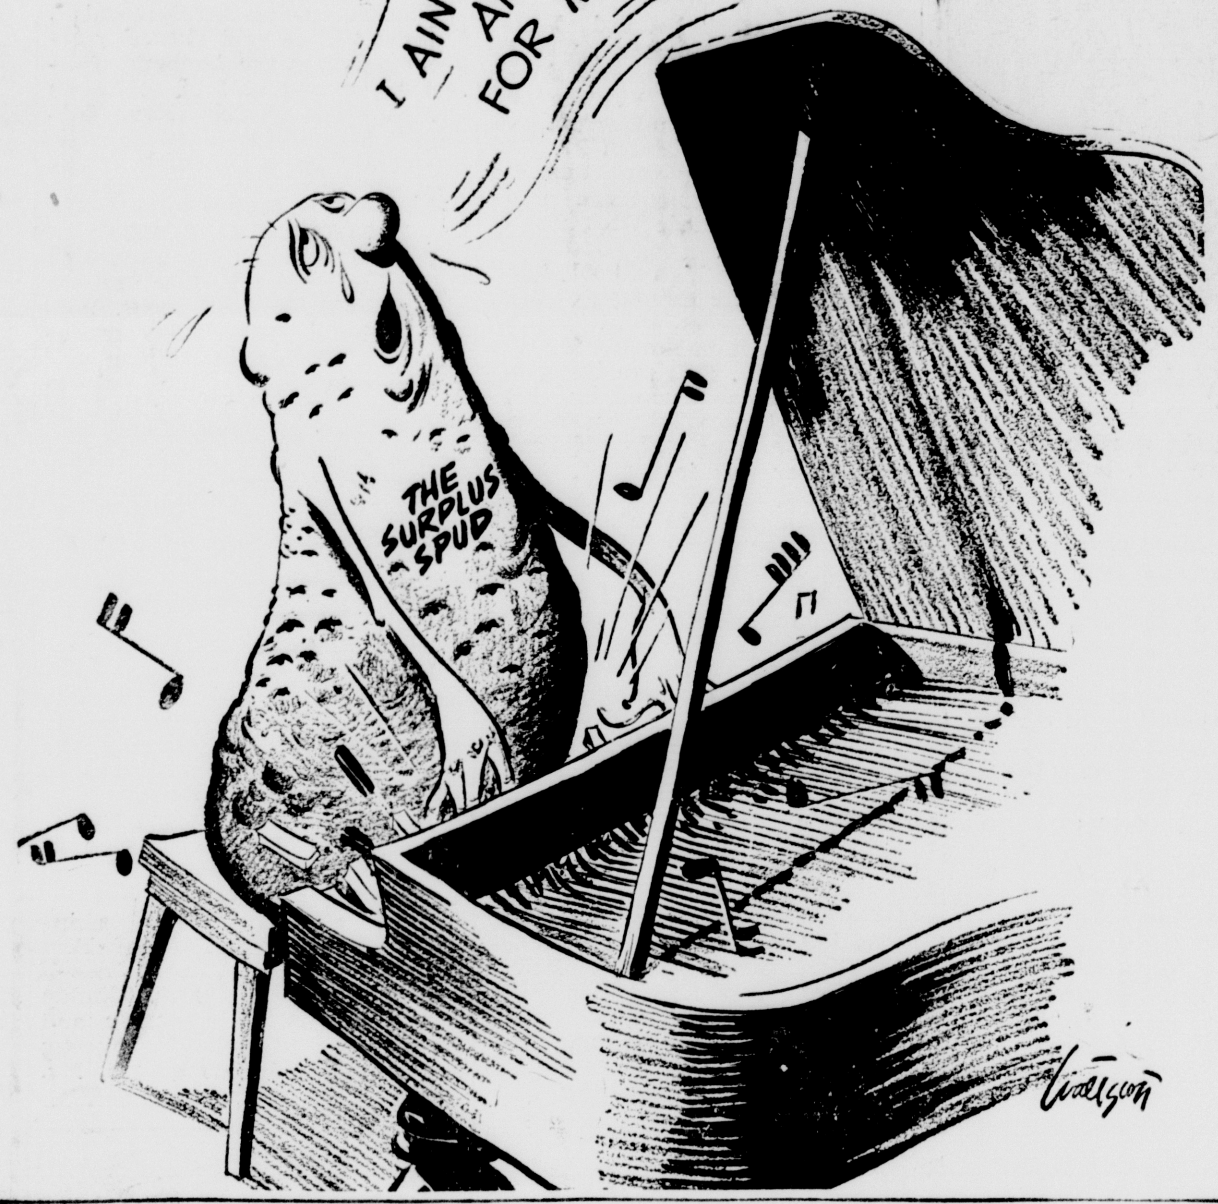

A. Literally, no, although the relationship is often so called. Strictly speaking, she is your wife's sister-in-law, but she has no "in-law" relationship to you.

Q. Is there such a kinship as "uncle-in-law"?

A. Yes. The husband of one's aunt, or the uncle of one's wife or husband, is properly one's uncle-in-law. Likewise, there may be aunts-in-law, cousins-in-law, nieces-in-law, etc.

SKI SAFETY—The recent accident in which a Gladstone woman fell while skiing and fracturing her leg, has no doubt, caused many persons—unacquainted with the sport of skiing—to consider it a dangerous pastime.

It is no more hazardous, however, than any other outdoor sport and perhaps less so than many. Accidents will happen in skiing, as in any activity. In fact, the remainder of the winter, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Peters of Canso, Nova Scotia, who have been visiting here with her, will occupy Mrs. Kates' home until she returns.

Manistique—Mrs. William Besner and daughter Cynthia are leaving today for Lufkin, Texas, to visit with Mr. Besner who is employed there.

Twenty Years Ago
Gladstone—City Manager F. R. Buechner and Atty. Glenn W. Jackson are leaving today for Lansing where they will represent the city of Gladstone at the hearing on the petition of the Escanaba Power and Traction company for a rate increase. City Manager T. F. Kessler and Atty. T. E. Strom are representing Escanaba.

Escanaba—Mrs. John Aiken of Milwaukee is visiting here with her mother, Mrs. Nick Webber.

Manistique—Jack Quick has returned from Milwaukee where he attended a druggists' convention. He also visited in Chicago with his brothers, George and Harvey Quick.

While not as good as snowshoes for travel through woods and brush, skis will take you farther and faster in open country. Unlike snowshoes, the skis are not lifted from the ground, but are slid along the surface of the snow. On the downhill slopes the skier can go zipping along as fast as he cares to—but going up the next rise is likely to be slow and toilsome.

Skiers also use two poles, one held in each hand, to aid his progress over the snow. A good cross-country skier can put his arms and shoulders into the push with the poles, thus making better time and sparing his leg muscles.

Skiing can be fast or slow, depending on the inclination of the skier. It is a fine winter sport for folks of any age.

SKI RELAXED—Those who ski will tell you that as they gained experience they became more relaxed, more confident. And with confidence came greater enjoyment of the sport.

The dangers of skiing? Certainly no greater than in other winter sports, and less hazardous than driving your automobile down a crowded highway. For the beginner the warning of take it easy is well repeated. Try downhill runs only after the feeling of relaxed confidence is attained.

But accidents do happen, even on the straight-away. Just as they will happen in the "safety" of your own home.

Band Uniforms

Dear Editor:

There has been a lot of comment lately about the condition of the uniforms of the Escanaba Municipal Band. During the American Legion convention here several bands from other cities took part and their appearance was a credit to the cities that they represented.

The members of the Escanaba band are all talented musicians. The band presented some fine concerts during the summer months, but regardless of how well the band plays, if their uniforms are not in good shape, it gives a poor impression of our city.

I am sure the people of our city certainly would like to see our band in new uniforms this coming summer. I have been informed that several outside bands have offered to trade concerts with the Escanaba band. As much as the members of our band would like to accept, they will not do so unless they are outfitted with new uniforms so that they can put on a display that will be a credit to the city.

I am sure the city council can take favorable action to approve the purchase of new uniforms. We are supposed to be a leading city of the U. P. As long as the band is a municipal band and is maintained by the taxpayers of our city, their appearance will cast reflection upon the city.

County Government

Dear Editor:

On your editorial page, July 23 appeared some comment on what State Treasurer Drake had said of county form of government, and I agree with him. Our present county government may not be perfect, man himself is not perfect, but there is no assurance that commission form will be any better.

The reason the county is in the red is quite obvious. The people demand more service and assistance from the board and the tax dollar is getting smaller and pays for less. I think the board has done well with what they had to do with.

I believe in representative form of government, be it City, County, State or National and I still think if our City Charter had provided for one councilman elected separately from each ward instead of having ten or twelve at large all in a heap, we would be better off today.

An eight member council might have prevented Bean from spending the people's taxes without asking. Today we have quite a problem on our hands for which we all have to pay. I am not writing to criticize past or present city government. I think for the best interest of us all as I see it.

Maybe others may have some suggestion along the same line.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson on the all-important problem of our Russian relations and future war.)

BY DREW PEARSON

PEARSON

WASHINGTON
Hon. Louis Johnson, Secretary of National Defense, Washington, D. C.
Dear Louis:

Maybe I am hipped on this subject, but I am convinced that in this day of threatened atomic-hydrogen war, it is vital that we as a nation chart a more definite course in our relations with Russia and that the American people be informed of that course.

You and I don't always agree, but in this country, thank goodness, sincerity is much more important than agreement; and you and I have always been frank with each other.

To be bluntly frank, therefore, the American people are confused over the fact that after long delays in appointing civilian defense executives, we are now getting up an alternate capital of the United States, we are microfilming essential documents for safekeeping away from Washington; and we are planning a series of underground garages as potential air-raid shelters.

Naturally this has people worried. And I confess that every Sunday I am torn between two difficult alternatives:

1. Telling the people the truth about the pessimistic world picture and increasing their worry; or

2. Painting a more optimistic picture even if it is not entirely accurate.

Not that the American people are the ones to duck the truth; nor to duck worry. In my opinion, they are better prepared to take the vicissitudes of life than any other people in the world. But they like to know.

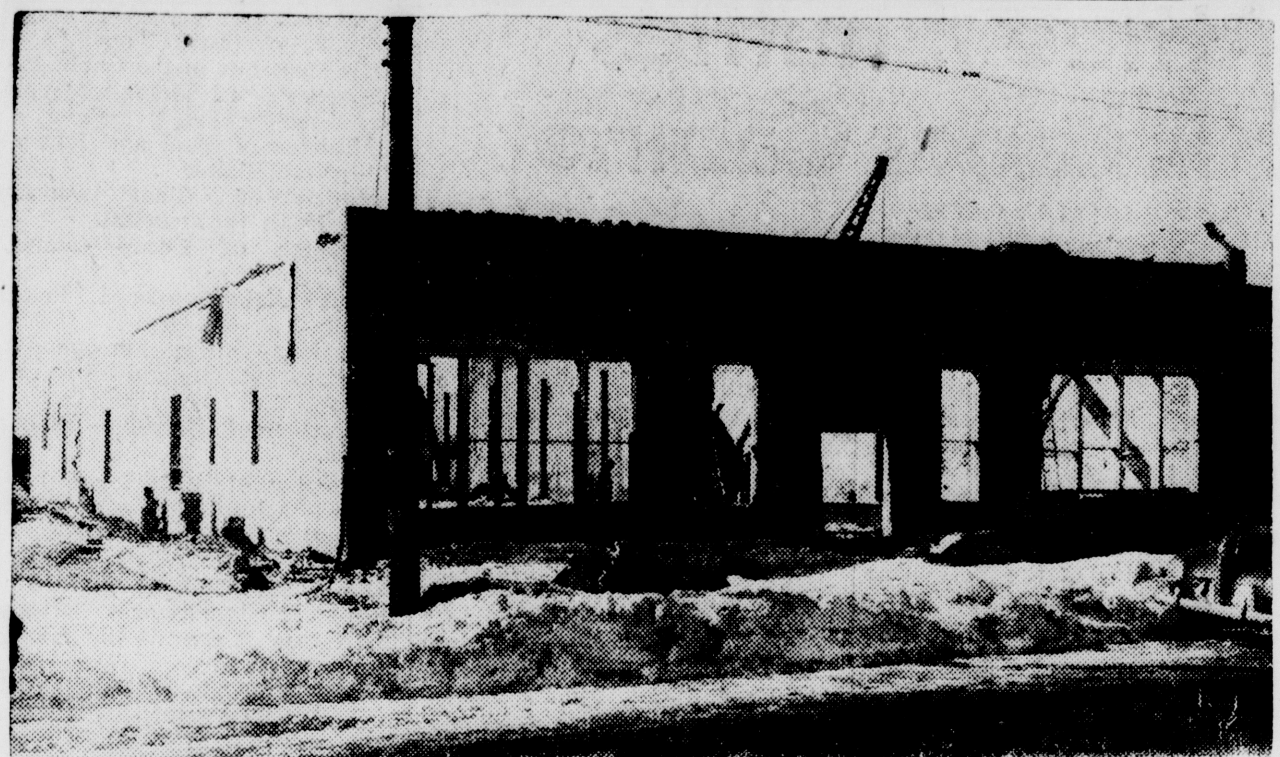

They don't like to be kept in the dark. They don't like to get the impression that those at the helm in Washington are confused or vacillating. They are not anxious for more sacrifices, but they will be willing to make them—provided they are necessary and provided they can see the goals ahead.

That is why I took the liberty of writing to Dean Acheson the other day, urging that a new and more concrete policy be charted, and then explained fully to the American people.

Now, I am not proposing to tell you what it should be. I don't know what it should be. And I doubt if you or Dean at the present time know. It is the most difficult question the cabinet and the country faces—whether to hold a conference with Russia which undoubtedly would be a failure; whether to force an early showdown which might lead to war; whether to continue an expensive battle of economics and nerves on a far-flung front extending from Japan to Norway and from Indonesia to North Africa.

Those are problems which are very easy to discuss in editorial columns or in smoking-car compartments where no decisions have to be made. But when the discussion takes place on the level of the secretary of state and the secretary of defense, where men's lives may be at stake, then my sympathies are with you. I am glad I am not in your shoes.

Passion Plays Have Rebirth

Dramatic Spectacles Also Staged In U. S.

The Passion play, proclaiming its theme of sacrifice and love, is having a spirited rebirth in a world tormented by the H-bomb threat, cold wars and unrelenting international tension.

Not since the 15th century—when the re-enactment of the sufferings, death and resurrection of Christ reached its highest development—has this dramatic spectacle had as many producers and spectators as seem assured this year, observes the National Geographic Society.

Outstanding productions this spring and summer will be at Oberammergau, Germany; Tegelen, Holland; Spearfish, South Dakota, and Lawton, Oklahoma. More than a million and a half people are expected to attend these presentations.

Other thousands will see the Yaqui Indian Passion play at Tucson, Arizona, performed during Holy Week each year, and smaller pageants throughout the Christian world.

Oberammergau's Passion play—produced with few lapses every decade since 1634—is today's chief link with the spectacular religious plays of the 1400's. Then, plays sometimes contained as many as 62,000 verses and took as long as 30 days to perform, but the people of Europe's largest cities flocked to them en masse.

The magnificent performances of the medieval Passion play reflected a combination of religious fervor, cultural advances and new-born civic pride in an era of growing towns whose increasing wealth financed the lavish presentations. Everyone possible participated and class distinctions were forgotten when the time came to choose actors for the leading parts.

The role of Christ was then, as now, the greatest honor, but it also was the most exacting in its demands on memory and endurance.

In 1437 a Lorraine priest, portraying Christ, hung on a cross until near death. Another priest, cast as Judas in the same production, suffered heart failure during a realistic hanging scene.

By the 16th century, however, the wealthy began to withdraw support from the community plays and the decline of the Passion drama set in. At the close of the 18th century, efforts, spurred by religious strife, were made to destroy the play's last stronghold in Bavaria and the Tyrol.

Oberammergau preserved the

Don't Blame Spud Surplus To State Growers — Moore

If you're getting that finger ready to point at the Michigan potato farmer in trying to find someone to blame for the current potato surplus problem, you had better look elsewhere. Henry C. Moore, Michigan State College crops extension specialist, who has spent more than 30 years working with Michigan potato growers, thinks so anyway.

If Michigan consumers would eat Michigan potatoes exclusively the state could come very close to handling its own crop. This, of course, is not possible, since tradition, however, despite political pressures and wars, retaining its day-long play written in part before 1600; its simple, picturesque village, largely unmodernized; and its policy of selecting the most worthy townspeople for the drama's chief characters.

Many of Oberammergau's traditions are lodged in the Lunen Passion play of Westphalia, Germany, which established an American home at Spearfish in the Black Hills of South Dakota in 1938.

Michigan potatoes are not available every month in the year. Here is Moore's analysis, however. Michigan's crop was slightly more than 17,000,000 bushels in 1949, a reduction of two million bushels under the average for the ten years previous. After deductions are made for culls fed livestock, potatoes consumed on farms where produced and for potatoes saved for seed, that leaves about 11,000,000 bushels of Michigan potatoes for sale to consumers.

Annual per capita consumption of potatoes in the U. S. in 1948 was about 110 pounds. Excluding those living on farms raising potatoes, there would be 6,000,000 Michigan people to consume the crop. Based on the average, their consumption would exceed 10,000,000 bushels.

The crop specialist pointed to the reduction in acreage from an average of 183,000 acres from 1938 to 1947 down to but 104,000 acres last year as an indication that Michigan farmers are endeavoring to reduce the surplus. Some states have increased acreages during this period of surplus and none of the major producing states show the acreage reduction that has taken place in Michigan, Moore said.

Some Michigan growers also sell on the open market, to hold the markets they have established in recent months, rather than to sell to the government.

Court Grants Rehearing In Lansing Graft

LANSING.—(P)—In a rare decree, the state supreme court agreed yesterday to rehear its decision upholding the six-year-old conviction of seven men accused of a legislative graft conspiracy.

It was indicated that the court granted one of its rare rehearings because it wished to clear up arguments over its earlier three-to-two decision in the case.

In December the court upheld the conviction of the finance company officials and former legislators by a three to two decision, with three judges disqualifying themselves from sitting in the case.

The defendants are John Hancock of Detroit, official of Associates Discount Corporation, of South Bend, Ind.; George Omacht, of South Bend, general counsel for Associates discount, Abraham Cooper of Detroit, president of the Union Investment Company; former Senator Henry P. Shea of Calumet and Lansing; and former Reps. William G. Buckley, Adam W. Sumeracki and Walter N. Stockfish of Detroit.

The rehearing will be heard in April.

All seven were convicted at Mason in the summer of 1944 in the first and largest graft case started by the Carr-Sigler grand jury. Their cases have been on appeal since.

Son Leaves To Face Cowshed Killing Of Father At Clawson

PRESCOTT, Ariz.—(P)—Michigan officers left here today with Carson James, 27-year-old Marine sergeant, wanted in Oakland county (Mich.) for the "family secret" slaying of his father two years ago.

James was handcuffed as Deputy Sheriff Elmer McGuern and Clawson Police Chief Clarence Witt led him to their car to begin the return journey to Michigan at 7 a. m.

James waived extradition. He is accused of slaying his father, Stanley, 54, after a family reunion on Thanksgiving Day, 1947.

The James family swore to keep the slaying secret. It was not until a conscience-stricken sister broke down last week that the slaying was uncovered and the elder James' body dug from beneath the family cow shed near Pontiac, Mich.

Association Protests Later Class Hours

The Delta County Ministerial association, meeting this morning at the First Presbyterian church, went on record as protesting closing of the Escanaba Junior high school classes during the hours children of the Catholic faith are dismissed for religious instruction.

The association in its protest made it clear that there is no objection to the religious instruction program but that it is opposed to later opening hour of classes for children of other denominations.

Other matters considered at this morning's meeting were routine.

Rev. Glenn Kjellberg of Gladstone, chairman, presided at the meeting.

Cancer Victim Dead Before Air Injection, Dr. Sander Jury Told
MANCHESTER, N. H.—(P)—The defense today read into the records a statement by a fellow physician that Mrs. Abbie Borroto was dead before Dr. Hermann N. Sander ever reached her bedside.

The statement was made by Dr. Albert Snay, who examined the cancer-ridden woman the morning of Dec. 4 a few minutes before Dr. Sander is alleged to have injected air into her veins.

Sander is on trial on a charge of first degree murder.

Dr. Snay was quoted as saying he carefully examined Mrs. Borroto, found no pulse, no reflex of the eyeball, no heart sound through a stethoscope and therefore:

"I concluded then that she was dead."

"The patient appeared to be gone," read Dr. Snay's statement. "Dr. Sander walked in, and I said something to the effect there is nothing to be done."

High Court Upholds Michigan Tax On Diesel Truck Fuel

LANSING.—(P)—Michigan's three-year-old diesel fuel tax on trucks and busses was upheld by the state supreme court yesterday.

The court rejected a constitutional attack filed by 16 bus and truck companies in a test suit brought against Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr.

The decision dismissed plaintiffs' arguments that the tax violated the uniformity clause of the constitution because it imposed a four-cent-a-gallon levy on vehicles operating under municipal franchises and five cents-a-gallon on those elsewhere.

Red Cross Has Drive Kickoff Meeting Here

About 50 persons attended the fund drive kickoff meeting for the Delta County Chapter of American Red Cross, at the new headquarters at 1113 Ludington street last night.

Dr. Neal J. Bailey, fund drive chairman, introduced the various persons who will work on the fund drive to raise $12,000 in Delta County, and explained materials furnished workers.

The Delta County fund drive opened today. Escanaba has been asked to contribute $6,000, Gladstone $2,000 and the rural areas $4,000. Mrs. J. C. McGonagle is Gladstone chairman, Nyal Witham, Escanaba chairman, and Harold Gustafson of Ensign is chairman for the rural areas.

Open house will be held from 7:30 to 10 p. m., tonight at the Red Cross headquarters, 1113 Ludington street, (upstairs). Refreshments will be served by the Gray Ladies.

A feature of the meeting last night was the showing of a film on Red Cross work in Michigan, in which Gray Ladies of Escanaba are shown working in the physical therapy room at the Escanaba junior high school.

Two Miners Buried In Coal Fall Saved At Pottsville, Pa.

POTTSVILLE, Pa.—(P)—A 24-year-old miner was rescued last night several hours after a fellow digger had been pulled to safety from a mine shaft where the two men were trapped by a coal fall. Rescue workers clawed through 14 feet of rock and coal to reach Frank Bosack, Jr., of Pottsville, son of the owner of the small mine employing 15 men.

Several hours earlier, Robert Schoffstall, about 40, of Minersville, Pa., was rescued from the spot where he had been buried up to his neck by falling debris.

Bosack apparently was none the worse for his experience. Schoffstall was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital in Pottsville, where doctors said he had sustained possible fractures of the skull, left elbow, ankle and foot.

Finland's President Begins Second Term; Russia Sends Note

HELSINKI, Finland.—(P)—President Juho Paasikivi began his second term of office today by promising to work for "good and trustful relations, especially between Finland and the Soviet Union."

The 79-year-old statesman was sworn into office with the dark shadow of Russian political pressure marring the inauguration ceremonies.

Russia yesterday handed Finland a note reiterating previous demands for the extradition of some 300 alleged Soviet war criminals. The note was considered by political circles here to have been especially timed to influence the formation of the new Finnish government.

Missing Mother, 30, Hunted To Tell Her She Has No Cancer

RENSSELAER, N. Y.—(P)—Police in 14 states were looking for a 30-year-old mother today to tell her she doesn't have cancer.

The three young children of Mrs. Helen B. Overlander prayed for her return.

The tall, hazel-eyed blonde kissed the children goodbye last Friday and disappeared. She told them they would never see her again.

Mrs. Overlander had the mistaken belief she was suffering from cancer. Her husband, Sherrell, said that her physician told him yesterday there was nothing seriously wrong with her.

For the last year, Mrs. Overlander had been under treatment for an internal disorder.

Overlander, a 33-year-old truck driver, said his wife had told him her grandfather died of cancer four years ago and she feared the disease was hereditary.

The children, Sherrell, jr., 10, Carl, 8, and Mary Elizabeth, 6, are being cared for by friends.

Red-Haired Wife, 26, Accused Of Killing Husband, To Be Freed

LURAY, Va.—(P)—Page county authorities plan to recommend dismissal of a murder charge against red-haired Mrs. Barbara Parks, accused of killing her war-veteran husband.

Commonwealth's Attorney I. R. Dovel said last night he will enter the recommendation because an investigation has disclosed the fatal shooting was accidental.

The victim, Robert Franklin Parks, 38-year-old retired Army captain and survivor of four years in a Japanese prison camp, was

Attlee Shuffles His Labor Cabinet

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
LONDON.—(P)—Prime Minister Attlee has reshuffled his Labor cabinet along stronger political lines to meet the threatened Conservative challenge in parliament, which opens today.

Attlee, whose Labor party majority in the 625-member House of Commons was cut to a scanty seven in last week's election, kept his three top cabinet aides: Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps.

He made some 15 changes, chiefly in the lower brackets, in a move obviously aimed at strengthening the party for new elections which most observers feel will be called within a few months at most.

Here is Britain's new cabinet (* denotes re-appointment):

Prime Minister—Clement Attlee

Lord of President of the Council—Herbert Morrison

Foreign Affairs—Ernest Bevin

Chancellor of the Exchequer—Sir Stafford Cripps

Defense—Emanuel Shinwell

Labor and National Service—George Isaacs

Agriculture—Tom Williams

Education—George Tomlinson

President of the Board of Trade—Harold Wilson

Colonies—James Griffiths

Secretary of State for Scotland—Hector McNeil

Commonwealth Relations—P. Gordon-Walker

Home Secretary—Chuter Ede

Lord Chancellor—Viscount Jowitt

Town and Country Planning—Hugh Dalton

Lord Privy Seal—Viscount Addison

Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster—Viscount Alexander of Hillsborough

Health—Aneurin Bevan

Ministers not in the Cabinet: Secretary of State for War—John Stacey

Minister of Fuel and Power—Philip Noel-Baker

Minister of National Insurance—Dr. Edith Summerskill

Minister of Food—Maurice Webb

Civil Aviation—Lord Pakenham

Pensions—Hilary Marquand

Postmaster General—Ness Edwards

Minister of Works—Richard Stokes

Minister of State for Colonial Affairs—John Dugdale

Minister of State—Kenneth Younger

Paymaster General—Lord Macdonald of Gwaensgor

Attorney General—Sir Hartley Shawcross

Lord Advocate—John Wheatley

Solicitor General—Sir Frank Soskice

Solicitor General for Scotland—Douglas Johnston.

Mines Subsidy Bill Will Pass, Bennett Says

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Despite a rules committee setback, Rep. Bennett (D-Ill.) renewed a prediction that the $80,000,000-a-year metal mines subsidy bill would become law this year.

The rules committee approved the Senate-passed bill 10 days ago. The House leadership immediately scheduled it for quick floor consideration.

But Monday the rules group reconsidered its approval and bottled up the measure with a tie six-to-six vote.

However, Bennett said he was certain the bill would be brought up under the 21-day rules before the session ends. This rule permits a committee chairman to appeal directly to the speaker for a change to present a bill approved by his group if the rules committee holds it 21 days.

The action of the rules group in reversing itself "is little short of amazing," the Michigan congressman said.

He pointed out that a substantial majority of the House approved the identical bill late in the last session but it did not pass because a two-thirds vote was required in the particular parliamentary situation.

"Can't Lick Us" "We haven't by any means given up this fight," Bennett asserted. "They can't lick us. All they do is to cause further delay on the consideration of this national security measure."

He then took a shot at the rules committee, asserting it "has outlived its usefulness. It was repeatedly demonstrated that it does not represent the will of the majority of the House of representatives and its power to program legislation should be abolished."

The subsidy bill is particularly important to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan because it would make it possible to continue operation of deep copper mines there, Bennett said. Some others which have been closed could be reopened.

Under terms of the measure, copper mine operators would be paid for their cost of production plus depreciation and depletion allowances.

The bill would authorize expenditure of $80,000,000 annually for the next five years to preserve present metals sources and aid in the search for new metals.

The White House approves the measure in its present form, Bennett said.

Weird Career Of Dr. Klaus Fuchs---Selfmade 'Jekyll And Hyde'

Flight from the Gestapo.

Dr. Klaus Emil Julius Fuchs, 38-year-old British scientist now facing trial on charges of betraying atomic secrets to Russia, was forced to flee his native Germany in 1933 because of his Communist underground activities. Then only 22, but already recognized as a brilliant physicist, he sought refuge in France, later in England. Interned with hundreds of other aliens in 1940, he was released two years later to participate in research at Birmingham University and Harwell, the British atomic center. He revealed in his confession that he decided to inform Russia immediately on learning the nature of his work. He became a naturalized British subject, took several loyalty and security oaths, and was sent to the U. S. in 1943, where he had ample opportunity to study the most secret details of the atomic bomb project at Los Alamos. He was among those who witnessed the first test explosion at Alamogordo in 1945. He also worked under Hans Bethe, author of the theory on which the hydrogen bomb project is based. Returning to Britain in 1946, he later became head of theoretical research at Harwell, and continued his atomic energy studies. Fuchs, in his confession, told the strange story of how he deliberately developed a "split personality" to reconcile his allegiance to Britain with the Marxian beliefs which led him to commit espionage. Thus he was a self-made "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"—brilliant and popular with his associates, and at the same time capable of passing on secret information to Soviet agents in the darkest cloak-and-dagger tradition. Fuchs called it "controlled schizophrenia." According to a prosecution witness at the scientist's preliminary hearing, he admitted giving atomic data to foreign agents in London, New York and Los Alamos from 1942 on. Fuchs said he reduced, and finally stopped, his flow of information after the war when he began to feel doubts regarding Russia's policy. When his father, a Protestant minister, moved to the Soviet Zone of Germany, Fuchs approached the Harwell security officer to ask if it would make any difference in his status. Already suspicious of his activities, security officials were thus given an opportunity to conduct the questioning which led to his confession. If convicted, he faces a possible 14-year prison term.

Chapman Urges Indian Study

Believes Program Needs Revamping

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman says it's time for a new look at the American Indian. Chapman has told the Senate Interior committee he wants "careful study" of long-range Indian problems. He added that there has been no such survey for 25 years.

Chapman made no mention of the Indian policy study conducted by the Hoover Commission. The Commission recommended that the Bureau of Indian Affairs be transferred from Interior to a new department of welfare. A member of the Hoover task force making the Indian study was John R. Nichols, then president of the New Mexico College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts, now commissioner of Indian affairs.

Nichols says he too would welcome a "good, thorough, scientific study." Chapman told the Senate committee that many people argue that the nation's 400,000 Indians should be freed of all controls and treated as other citizens. "This group disregards treaty obligations and the more than 5,000 laws that affect Indians alone," Chapman said. "Another group sincerely feels that the white man should leave the Indian alone and that the United States should retain what is left of its pure Indian culture."

"We in the Interior Department have been moving continually in the direction of the eventual release of controls—giving the Indians as much responsibility as we can while retaining as much

Chicago Boy Takes Accidental Leap On Iron Mountain Slide

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—(AP)—A 19-year-old Chicagoan accidentally jumped from Iron Mountain's 160 foot ski scaffold Monday and lived to tell it.

William Cordes of Chicago did the unscheduled leap during the Kiwanis ski tourney.

Cordes, a member of the Windy City Ski club, started down the slide with his skis on, but they somehow came unbuckled. He hurtled 75 feet through the air and lit on his neck as the 15,000 spectators turned their heads in horror. He bounced crazily for about 40 feet, then got up and walked away.

The only apparent injuries were bruises on the left side of his head. He returned to Chicago Monday night.

Ruark Desires Subsidy For Unsaleable Stories

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK.—It has occurred to me that I am standing in the need of a subsidy, and I am now prepared to kick and scream until Mister Truman gives me one. A great, big, fat subsidy, like the potato growers get and the egg-farmers get and all the other people get.

You been hearing about this Department of Agriculture operation, which involves a dank mystery called parity, and which is translatable into a soap opera in which I got eggs, you got eggs, all God's chillun got eggs, at roughly a half a buck apiece for three billion of same. Likewise spuds. Under this magnificent economic plot, which goes on and on, it is possible for a farmer to be paid three grand for a consignment of potatoes and then buy 'em back for 20 bucks. Subsidized spuds, yet.

As I understand this parity routine, which is a long and devious process of flabby thinking by politicians, we once made up our national mind that farmer folks didn't make as much money as city folks, so we guaranteed 'em a minimum price for what they raised, with the good gray gov underwriting the guarantee. This is called support, and is easily as intelligent as the speeches of Henry Wallace.

Fine For Farmers

The whole thing is kind of fine for the farmers, who vote, but has paid off lately in a vast supply of soggy potatoes and acid eggs. The government can't seem to sell 'em or give 'em away without ruffling its theory, and so you have the silly operation of imported spuds from Canada selling for less than the spuds we can't give away. If this is confusing to you, you ain't lonesome. What she comes down to finally is sheer jealousy. If the airlines can get government dough and the shipping lines, too, and the farmers get supported and they start to throw these pension plans around and the oil guys get depletion allowances and even race horse owners can charge off their bad judgement at the track, then I want me a special subsidy.

This would be a writer's subsidy, payable weekly, for just being alive in this madhouse of contrived foolishness by a bunch of fools who generally would flunk the simple test of pouring liquid from a boot, with the well-known hole in the toe.

What's with a farmer, he's so noble I got to pay hard money to support his crops? I got a vote, too, and to date I have stuck no government with a supply of unsaleable columns or magazine pieces. A book I wrote didn't sell, it just don't write. Finess book.

Rapid River
P. T. A. Card Party
RAPID RIVER—The P. T. A. of Rapid River sponsored a card party at the high school gym Monday evening, Feb. 27 with a large crowd of about 150 attending. Bridge, smearer, canasta, and 500 were among the card games played. The money that was taken in will go toward the purchasing of a stove for the hot lunch program.

In canasta prizes were won by Mrs. Bertha Hamilton and Howard Kuehn; smearer, Victor and Mrs. Harold Gustafson; euchre, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wickham; 500, Mrs. Dave Constantino and Marie Vanderbloem and in bridge, County Supt. Hagel Quarnstrom and Mrs. William Harrison. A game of cribbage also was played but no score was turned in.

Judge W. J. Miller was chairman for the lunch committee with the assistance of Jack Miller, Mrs. Ray Barney, Mrs. Irvin Wnuck, Mrs. Steve Johnson, Oliver Lund, Mrs. Waldon Johnson and Mrs. Zeph Rushford.

Home Economics Club
The Home Economics club will meet on Monday, March 6 at St. Charles parish hall. A lesson on sewing will be given by Mrs. Lloyd Stenland and Mrs. Ned Short. Hostesses will be Mrs. Sandy Short, Mrs. Ray LaBumbard and Mrs. Ted Talvatie.

Smeat Club
The Smeat club standings for last week are as follows: Red Owl, 388; Kellys, 389; City Service, 371; Larsons, 367; Swallow Inn, 342; Schramms, 323; Masonville, 321; and Nelsons, 316. This week's schedule is Masonville vs. City Service, Schramms vs. Larsons, Kellys vs. Nelsons, and Red Owl vs. Swallow Inn.

Personals
Jack and Dick Miller who are attending St. Norbert's high school at West Depere spent the weekend with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. James Short and family of Stephenson spent the weekend with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Short and Mrs. Ruth Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Roberto and son John of Gwin spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Julius King and family.

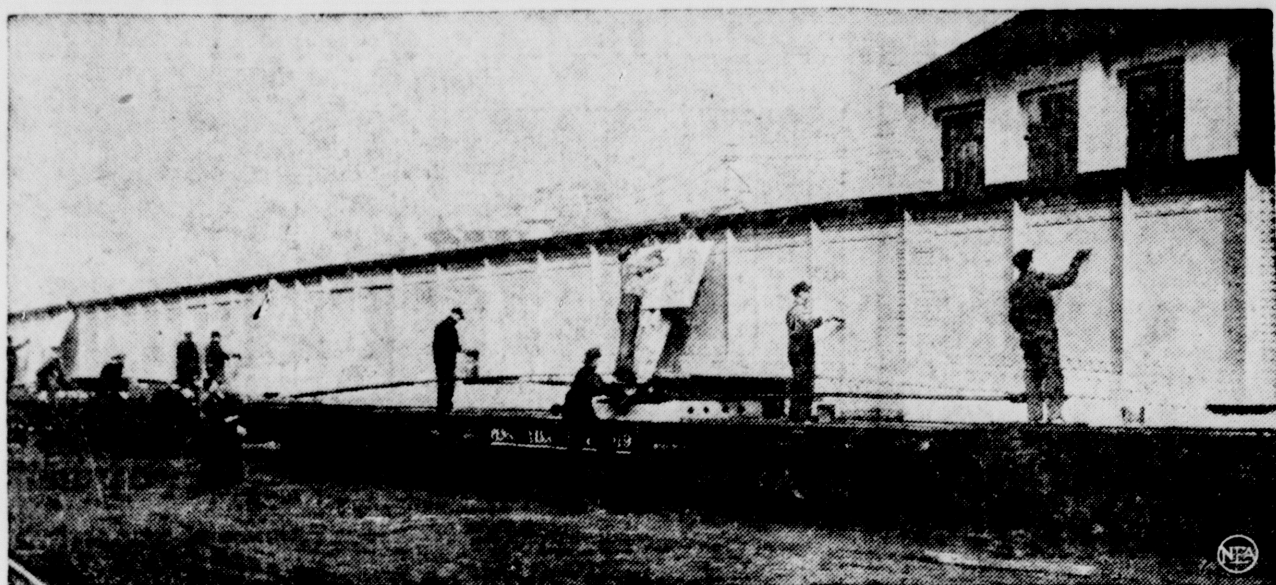

Who pays me for unsold copies of books? Not even the publishers, they should buy a better lobby.

Needs Bargaining Agent
I need a bargaining agent, no ten per cent, who will shove something through Congress which says that if Ruark writes a hunk of copy, this copy will sell at such-and-such a price. If it won't peddle at those prices, a little man in Washington will cipher up the difference and send me that pretty, pretty check. Bill goes to the farmers. Let them pay for my spinach for a spell.

A farmer's a man. So's a writer. A farmer has a family. So has a writer. My hound eats just as much as a farmer's hound. My family votes just as often as a farmer's family. Now I have to take on the financial obligation of feeding farmers, in a style to which they're unaccustomed? Let them plow under their own pigs.

Kicking around in the desk is a flock of crops which we call "dogs" in my bucolic trade. These are columns, the editor said "Nun-huh!" to, and seedy magazine pieces, and underprivileged screen plays, and malnourished novels. I own more overproduction than the potato Joes ever dreamed of, but nobody pays me a bloody dime for this excess of enterprise?

This cannot be right. I want money for not writing pieces. I want money for pieces that are no good and won't sell. I want guaranteed prices for all pieces. Money, Gimme money. Gimme lots of money. Gimme other people's money. Subsidy for one, subsidy for all. And that, Washington, means lovely little me.

RHEUMATISM NERVES-AGONIZED ST. IGNACE WOMAN

I am now entirely free of Rheumatism, Arthritis and Nervousness, and feel better than I did in years, says Mrs. Anna Wyers of 833 S. State St., St. Ignace, another grateful user of O-Jib-Wa Bitters.

Have you tried many medicines seeking relief from the agonizing pains of rheumatism, arthritis and neuritis without results? Do you continue to suffer, becoming more and more crippled and discouraged, with little or no relief from the pain? Such was the case of Mrs. Anna Wyers who suffered continually for over three years before taking O-Jib-Wa Bitters. The following unsolicited statement has been given by Mrs. Wyers of her own free will, and after reading her testimonial you too will agree that O-Jib-Wa Bitters is worth your trial.

Thought I Would Never Get Better
"I cannot praise O-Jib-Wa Bitters enough for what it has done for me. I have suffered the last 3 years with rheumatism and arthritis and was in such awful shape that I honestly thought that I would never get better. The hands and stiffness were in my feet, hands and arms, and although I tried many medicines, nothing seemed to help me, and I continued to get more crippled up. At times the pain was terrible at which time I got so bad that I had to hire help to do my housework and care for me. My hands and arms became so cramped and painful that I couldn't hold a pen to write a letter, and I sunk so, that I couldn't hold a cup of coffee without spilling it; or hold the paper steady enough to read it. I sold my car, for I could no longer drive it. These are true facts, so you can understand my feeling that I would never enjoy good health again."

Recommended By Friend and Druggist

"I started taking O-Jib-Wa upon recommendation of a friend and my local druggist. After taking it for about three weeks, I was quite surprised at the change that was taking place. I could tell that I was getting better, and as time went on, I continued to improve, until now, my rheumatism and arthritis is completely gone. Now I am able to sew, knit rugs and make quilts. I no longer shake as my nervousness too has left me. It really feels good to get up in the morning after a good night's sleep, entirely free of pain. I am always glad to recommend O-Jib-Wa Bitters to others, and have told a lot of my friends about my results. Many of these people have tried O-Jib-Wa themselves on my recommendations and report good results."

HERE ARE THE FACTS!
No medicine being sold today for Rheumatism and Arthritis has received such public acclaim and enthusiastic recommendation by its users than O-Jib-Wa Bitters. The reason for this is because O-Jib-Wa is not just a plain medicine, it is so many tablets on the market today, containing primarily aspirin and salicylates. O-Jib-Wa works through the blood stream and loosens stiff joints to relieve the distressing pain, even when the stiffness is so deep seated. O-Jib-Wa Bitters has a tonic effect on the stomach, liver, kidneys and nervous system. O-Jib-Wa is a quick action and in most cases aids in correcting the cause of these horrible agonies. Regardless of what you have tried with other results, you owe it to yourself to try this great all herb medicine. Don't give up hope. Don't put off. Give O-Jib-Wa Bitters a chance to help you. ## Venezuela Aids Steel Industry

Has Vast Quantity Of Rich Iron Ore

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA Staff Correspondent PITTSBURGH — (NEA) —

Christmas in 1946 was a little unusual for J. G. Munson, vice president of U. S. Steel. He spent part of the day listening to two young geologists tell him why he should play Santa Claus with $185,000 of his company's money.

Though hundreds of thousands had already been paid out fruitlessly on the same gamble, Munson told the two to go ahead. With a third geologist borrowed from a rival firm, they were the remnants of a small band of men who had been methodically scanning the globe for a year. Their goal: A great new source of iron.

The search was almost desperate. The high-grade ores of the great Mesabi Range in Minnesota, for decades the nation's chief source, were expected to play out in 10 to 20 years. A big new strike on the Quebec-Labrador border would help some producers, but not Big Steel. Staring it in the face was the prospect of spending billions to turn out usable ore from the vast fields of low-grade, iron-bearing taconite rock in Minnesota.

The world had been combed repeatedly for rich deposits. U. S. Steel's files were fat with geologists' pessimistic reports. But early in 1946 it decided to have "just one more look around" before plunging deeply into taconite.

That last look was something. Hundreds of properties were examined in such scattered spots as Alaska, British Columbia, Newfoundland, Mediterranean and West Coast Africa, Puerto Rico, Cuba, Mexico, Central America, Brazil and Venezuela.

Geologists took to the air to spot likely-looking areas. Some plodded overland to study prospects at close hand. Roads were built and machinery hauled by crude transport to key places. A great deal of iron was found, but none in huge masses.

By Christmas of 1946 Munson's two visitors and their borrowed associate were among the few still eager for the hunt. Packing Munson's hopeful Christmas gift, the trio headed back to Venezuela for a last bold try. Carefully they photographed 10,500 square miles of unexplored land in eastern Venezuela.

They became interested in two small mountains, and moved in for a good look. One April morning at six they started to climb to the 2000-foot summit of one of the pair, now called Cerro Bolivar. From 8:30 until 4:30 in the afternoon they walked the mountain top. They were astounded. Cerro Bolivar was almost pure iron, in apparently unbelievable amounts.

Quickly and quietly, all available diamond drills were rushed from other test areas and bases. Nearly 100 holes were drilled, and tunnels were blasted to cross check the findings.

Scientists blinked as magnetometers, measuring iron content, gave the highest readings ever recorded—an average of 65 percent. As tests went forward, it became plain that U. S. Steel had found the richest and perhaps the greatest iron ore deposit in history. Only the Mesabi is in its class. Cerro Bolivar, a mile wide and four and a half miles long, is a wholesome chunk of some 1,000,000,000 tons of ore. Other deposits within a 30-mile radius boost the reserves by 300,000,000 tons. The price tag on the find: $10 billion.

Little Cerro Bolivar, 2500 miles from America's Middle Atlantic ports, is lucky insurance until around 2000 A. D. for the U. S. economy founded on steel. It immeasurably brightens our national security outlook, because drawing on its reserves may allow military stockpiling of possibly 500,000,000 tons of the dwindling Mesabi ore.

Mighty Mo Skipper Takes All Blame For Grounding Battleship

NORFOLK, Va. — (AP) — Capt. William D. Brown, commanding officer of the battleship Missouri, said Tuesday "I and I alone bear the sole responsibility" for her grounding last month.

"As captain of the ship, it was my duty to keep her safe and secure. I didn't do it," the 47-year-old officer told a naval court of inquiry.

This dramatic reversal of Brown's previous defense tactics came as the court opened its 18th day of sessions designed to fix responsibility for the grounding which occurred in Chesapeake Bay, January 17.

When Brown took the stand in his own defense February 18 and February 20 he testified his "team of officers" fell down when he "needed it most" January 17, and he felt "utterly alone as far as assistance from my team of officers was concerned."

Entertaining Concert Presented
Here By Instrumental Students

A highly entertaining concert of instrumental music was presented here last night at William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium by music students of the Escanaba public schools.

Two hundred fifty-eight pupils performed in the concert, under the direction of Robert S. Meyer and Mrs. Clara Karas Somers. Music offered ranged from simple tunes like the Magdalen Waltz and the Dot and Phip March, to Wagner's March of the Meistersingers, Rachmaninoff's Prelude and the Pilgrim's march from Wagner's Tannhauser.

The 36-piece grade school honor band opened the program with two waltzes and a march. As each successive musical group performed, one could see the development of students, as they advance in school musical units. The grade violin ensemble, with Mrs. Somers directing, played Onward Christian Soldiers, Flow Gently Sweet Afton and Row, Row Your Boat. The grade school string orchestra, also under direction of Mrs. Somers, performed Melodious Harmonies, and Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star.

Student Director

David Pincock served as student director for several numbers offered by the all-city tonette band. The audience received their performances, The Tonette, Queen of the Waters and School Band, with much enthusiasm. Mary Ellen Niederauer accompanied the 23 tonette players.

Diane Nelson, fifth grade violinist, offered the Mary Jane Waltz, with Fay Frechette as accompanist, following the tonette band's performance.

Beginning with the Junior Violin Ensemble's performance of Allegro Maestoso, Romance and Old Black Joe, some very fine numbers were offered. The Junior orchestra performed Tschakovsky's In Church, Greig's Sailors Song and Lehar's Merry Widow Waltz, for a very appreciative audience.

Ruth Haven, Joan Northrup, Betty Nantell and Mary Ellen Niederauer performed in the French Horn quartette's presentation of the Pilgrim March from Tannhauser, after which the junior band, with Robert Meyer directing, offered Military Escort, Ambition and Mutual, all marches by Bennett. Both the junior band and junior orchestra gave very good performances, though comprised of music students on the junior high school level.

Senior Band

The senior band offered La Jardin, Trombone Toboggan and The Little Brown Jug Goes to Town. In the latter number, the audience was gaily amused by the piccolo player, who was "drowned out" each time she attempted to play.

At the close, the piccolo finally gets a chance to be heard, and "lets out" with some fascinating bars. Harold Cloutier, Pat Farrell and Conrad Desilets, cornetists with Suzanne Lindstrom as accompanist, played Flirtations, Jan Marrier and John Moore offered Schubert's Serenade, as a cornet-baritone duet, with Nancy Gasman accompanying.

The senior orchestra played March of the Meistersingers, and several selections from Jerome Kern's Showboat, including Of Man River, Cotton Blossom, Make Believe, Can't Help Lovin' Dat Mar and Why Do I Love You.

Mrs. Karas directed the violin ensembles, the junior orchestra and the grade school string orchestra, and Mr. Meyer directed the bands and the senior orchestra.

Daughters Of This Type Have A Few Things To Learn

By RUTH MILLETT

I am writing this column for one particular 18-year-old girl—though it may hit home to a number of other teen-agers.

Your mother, who sounds like an intelligent woman, signs her letter "An unhappy mother."

And what is making her unhappy? You are. You and your scornful attitude toward the kind of education for living she has tried and is still trying to instill in you.

Do you know what she says of you? "In her estimation I am just an old fogy and no other mother requires the things that I do."

"She is an intelligent girl, doing well at school, but her attitude at home is almost unbearable. She treats everything at home, including the furnishings, with contemptuous scorn. Her room is disorder itself. She cares nothing about keeping it tidy and if I clean it up for her the moment she steps into the room clothes, shoes, books, papers, etc., are scattered all over the bed and floor."

Not A Pretty Picture

There is more, but that should be enough to give you a picture of how you look to your mother.

It isn't a very pretty picture, is it? Of course, I haven't heard your side of the story. And you are bound to have a side.

But whatever it is—you are giving your mother some very bad years.

It isn't easy to be young, as anyone who has outgrown youth, fully realizes. But it isn't necessary for a girl to treat her mother and her home with contempt, even if her mother may seem to be wrong sometimes or to be lacking in understanding.

Most mothers want the best there is for their daughters. Often what the mothers think is best is not what the daughters think they want.

But at least give your mother credit for trying. And when the two of you aren't in agreement, be enough of a lady to put your case before her in as pleasant a way as you can, instead of creating a scene.

And while you are being supported at home, try to have enough decency not to be contemptuous of the way your home is furnished.

You'll have your own home some day. But you're living in your mother's home now. So don't try to run the show. Believe me, you'll some day regret the unhappiness you are causing your mother now.

MASHED RUTABAGAS

1 small rutabaga, 1 1/2 lb.
peeled, sliced 1/4 inch thick
3 med. potatoes, peeled and cut in half
1 1/2 tsp. salt
2 lbs. butter
Salt and pepper to taste
1 tsp. sugar
1 egg beaten

Place rutabagas and potatoes in separate pans and add 3 cups boiling water. Add salt. Cook until tender, 20-25 minutes. Drain both vegetables, saving liquid. Mash rutabagas and potatoes separately, then combine and add sugar, butter and beaten egg. Beat vigorously until mixture is smooth and fluffy. Add seasoning to taste. Addition of potatoes to rutabagas makes it much milder in flavor and gives mixture a fluffy consistency. Serves 5.

Denise Darcel was the most beautiful, the most photographed girl in France. They took her to Hollywood and gave her the only feminine role in Battleground, the famous Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture now showing at the Michigan Theater. Hollywood deglamorized her—no rouge or lipstick for this role. And as she says ruefully, "I get no kisses—not one single kiss. Think of it—Van Johnson—and no kisses!" Van and Denise head a star studded cast that make a war story so realistic and human it has been heralded by critics everywhere. The play was written by an infantryman who fought in the Battle of the Bulge. His experiences and observations, jotted down on scraps of paper and envelopes, became Battleground which begins at the Michigan tonight.

How you see it, now you don't! It's as tricky as the old shell game they way you can change a Wonder-Rest sofa into a bed with a flick of the wrist. No fooling, I saw it done at Bonet's just yesterday. The new sofa-beds are so smartly upholstered in plain or printed fabrics that they pass for the finest kind of davenport. So quit complaining!) And what makes the evening a huge success is your sumptuous new formal from Lauerma's. All the girls look at you with envy—that full, full hoop skirt, that sweet shirred top, that cool green color with little frosted white flowers to make it unutterably lovely and just right for you. Every prom girl will be down to Lauerma's. I'm sure, to see their wide selection of Spring formals at prices from $12.95 to $17.95. Taffetas, sheer marisettes, organdies, and nets in pastel shades of yellow, peach, green, blue, lilac, and aqua.

Let's play school. I'll be the teacher—you be the pupil. Pencils and wits sharpened? Here's the problem: A smartly dressed woman and her gentleman escort enter a fashionable eating place. The woman carries a beautiful, large alligator handbag. It prettily adds to her costume, but the minute they are seated, it's definitely a total loss. Where to put it? It's not proper on the table—it slides off her lap—it's not safe on the floor. "Hang it!" she says under her breath. "I wish I hadn't bought it." What's the solution?

Mildred said the solution, although she didn't know it. It's Hang-ette, a gold-plated little hanger which holds your purse and rests on any table, desk or counter edge. Leaves your hands free, your purse within easy reach. Only a dollar at Gust Asp's. Individually gift boxed. (Advertisement)

Government's
Latest Cook Book
Now Available

WASHINGTON—(P)—The government is not trying to tell you what to eat and how to cook it. It merely offers some helpful suggestions in its new 96-page, 25-cent cookbook, "Family Fare—Food Management and Recipes." With the average American family in mind, food specialists of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics have been developing and testing new nutrition-wise recipes and practical menus for months at the Department of Agriculture's Beltsville, Md., laboratories.

Mrs. Mary Swickard, who grew up on a large Indiana farm and began helping her mother cook as soon as she could "see over the top of the stove," directed the research resulting in the book, which is just off the press. (Send cash, not stamps, to the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. Please do not address this newspaper).

The 200 recipes, from apple brown Betty to waffles, include some familiar standbys and some special dishes. A definite food plan for the home, information on up-to-date nutrition, smart buying and wise storage, and menus to round out main dish suggestions are also featured in the book. "Family Fare" succeeds the government's old cookbook, "Aunt Sammy's Recipes," which was first published in 1927. Up until last year some 2,000,000 copies of the older book had been sold.

The new book includes considerable material not previously published by the bureau and some information "not always on hand in home kitchen libraries," such as ways to substitute one ingredient for another, servings per pound of different foods and guidance on the nutritive values of foods. None of the new recipes is the same as those in "Aunt Sammy's Recipes," though many from the old book have been adapted with an application of newer knowledge of nutrition.

Dishes Judged

In developing the recipes, food specialists in the bureau experimented with changes in ingredients, ways of combining ingredients, times and temperatures of cooking. Before the recipes were released samples had to be approved by a judging panel which rated flavor, color, texture and other points that make food attractive. Judges were staff members.

Mrs. Glen Moras has left to spend a few days with relatives and friends in Milwaukee.

Mrs. William Galligan and son William left this morning to return to Glen Ellyn, Ill., after attending funeral services here for Henry Cloutier.

Joseph Wils of Chicago attended the funeral services for Joseph Cretns held yesterday at St. Patrick's church.

For a summer menu serve fish fillets baked in cream, snap beans and mushrooms, baked sweet potato, a green salad, and fresh plum cake. If the weather is too hot to turn on the oven broil the fillets and serve them with a cream sauce made on top of the range, use canned sweet potatoes and grill them in a little butter or margarine in a skillet. Instead of baking the fresh plum cake serve the plums stewed over squares of store-bought sponge cake with a little whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk.

The bureau estimates there are some 33,000,000 homemakers in the United States. Some want fancy fare and have cooks to prepare it. Others have to cut down to the simplest fare. The new cook book is designed for neither of these brackets. It is for the average family, generally the family of four, and is suitable for farm and city families alike.

Kennel Caters
To Capital's
Important Dogs

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—To 16-month-old Kathleen Marie Clancy, all her parents' swank customers are "boppies." To Raymond and Betty Clancy, "boppies" are the VIDs (Very Important Dogs) of the local canine world. The Clancys operate one of the capital's most exclusive kennels where famous poodles and other pets are brought for beautifying and behavior training.

"Mr. Mole," handsome golden retriever which belongs to Rep. Christian Herter (R. Mass.) and "Peaches," Presidential Secretary Matt Connelly's black cocker, are among their clients. Mrs. Clancy was giving her own apricot-colored poodle, "Brandy," a regulation "kennel" or "working clip" as she told me of her experiences.

During her first eight years in the dog world she was a nurse in a Maryland veterinary hospital. Then she went on her own as "Betty, the Pet Valet," bathing, grooming and clipping canine hair-styles. She and her husband established the Washington kennel several years ago. In addition to the kennel, where pets are boarded, the Clancys conduct a grooming service, and hold behavior training classes for owners as well as manage a cemetery for pets.

About 100 pets are buried in the cemetery, their graves all carefully designated with neat flat bronze markers. Besides dogs, there are canary birds, cats, monkeys, ducks, parakeets, white rats and pigeons. Mrs. Clancy is a pupil of Miss Blanche Saunders, of the famous Carillon Kennels of Pawling, N. Y., one of the country's outstanding obedience trainers.

Copies of Masters

Owners of problem dogs consulting Mrs. Clancy are shown a series of training films, taught basic obedience commands including "sit," "stay," "heel," "come" and "lie down." They are also shown how to teach stick jumping high jumping and carrying a dumbbell or rolled up magazine. "All puppies," says Mrs. Clancy, "are born sweet and gentle. Those becoming nervous or snappy, are made so by humans. Dogs are carbon copies of the dispositions and environments of their masters."

She adds that only those persons who understand that any and all pets are a responsibility, as well as an attraction, should own them. The Clancys will have nothing to do with such persons as the lady who wanted a poodle to match her new gray fur coat.

Hospital Schoolmarm

SCHOOLROOM. Mrs. Slager conducts a class for the younger tots who are showing keen interest in picture books. The children have regulation school-room desks.

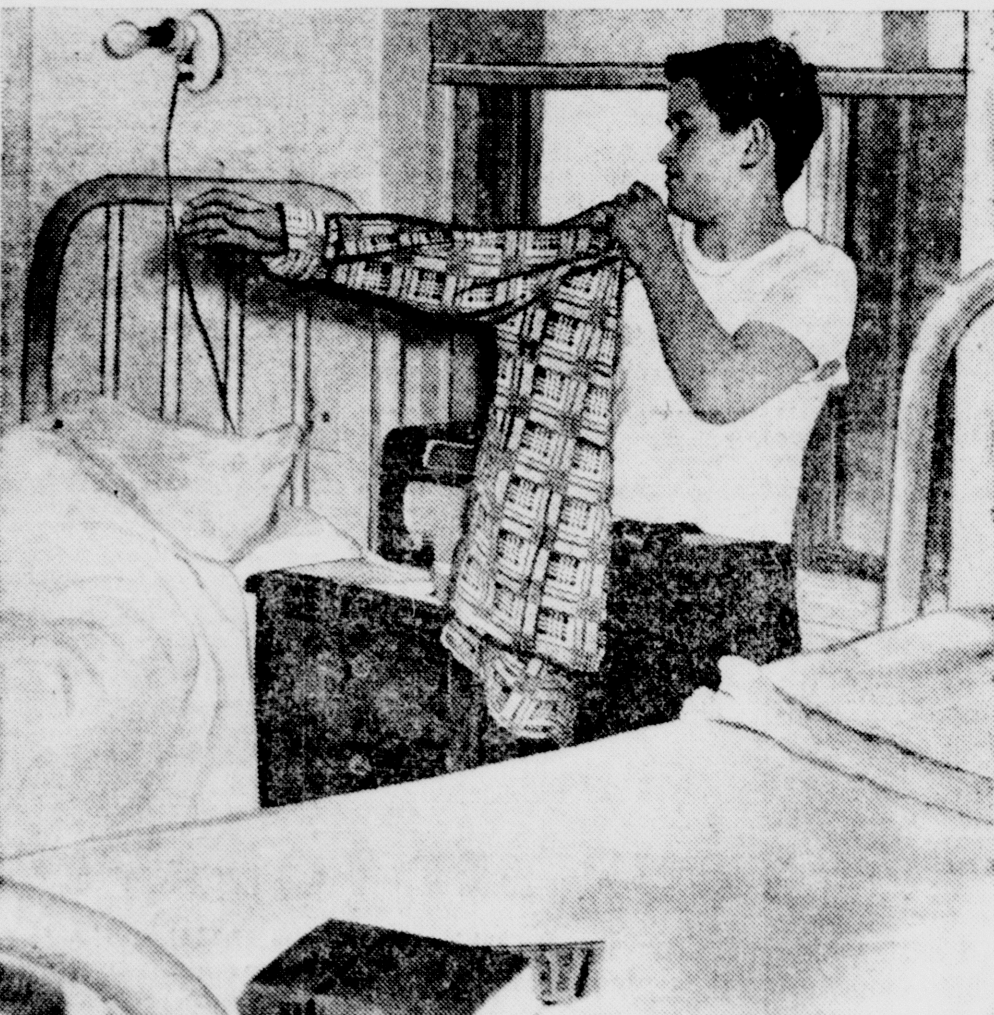

The National Jewish Hospital at Denver has an unique school for tuberculous children who, under the supervision of Mrs. Anne Slager, receive educational instruction along with treatment of their illness. Bedridden, as well as walking cases, are kept well informed so that when they return to normal lives they are able to continue schooling in their own age groups.

Mrs. Slager, who has no children of her own, even takes her student-patients to her own home for meals and radio enjoyment and sometimes takes them to the City Park Zoo.

At present her teaching duties involve some 25 students, ranging in age from five to 16. She teaches everything from primer reading to algebra. Mrs. Slager and her hospital pupils are pictured here.

Board Announced

Results of the recent election of new directors of the Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce were announced Tuesday morning. Of the ten candidates for the five offices, the following were chosen: Adam Heinz, Gust Larson, Leonard Mulhaupt, Frank Richards and Ralph Williams.

As these men assume their place on the director's board, five directors, elected two years ago are automatically replaced. Replaced members are not eligible for a specified number of years. Those who are replaced are: William Moreau, Alvin Nelson, Walter Nelson, Dallas Creeger and R. G. Hentschel.

At a meeting, the time of which has not been designated as yet, the new directors will assume their duties and with the hold-over members, elect a new slate of officers.

Leonard Harbick is the present president of the Chamber of commerce.

The votes were counted by a committee made up of Ernest Eckland, Al Farley and Gust Larson.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Mabel Berger who passed away two years ago today, March 1, 1948.

The silent night is lonely,
And there is no golden dawn,
Because we must remember, dear,
That you are really gone.
We must remember in our hearts,
This happiness we knew,
And that our only world was one,
In which we lived with you.
There is no breath of fragrance in
The flowers that are pressed,
And if we call your name we hear
The sound of emptiness.
We vain the house from room to room,
And gaze beyond the sea,
But there is nothing we can do,
To bring you back again.
We have to tell ourselves
That you are really gone,
And only ask the Lord
For strength to carry on.

ManistiqueWidely Varied Civic Problems Discussed
At Conference Here

Community problems and ways and means of bringing about their solution, were the incentive for long and serious discussions at Manistique high school Tuesday and today at the Schoolcraft County Community Conference.

The meeting was sponsored by the Extension Service of the University of Michigan with the cooperation of the Northern Michigan College of Education and other state agencies.

It was a conference in which local residents discussed, with expert consultants such vital community problems as rural telephone service, zoning—city and rural, local government, Youth problems and health and welfare.

Several weeks ago, under the direction of Charles Follo, of Escanaba, U. P. Office, University of Michigan Extension Service, and under the chairmanship of Clayton Reid, county agricultural agent, conferences were held and these problems have been discussed by various committees of county and city residents. The community conference here was the culmination of these discussions.

The conference began with a general assembly at the high school auditorium, with Chairman Reid presiding, who turned the meeting over to Prof. John W. Hyde, of the School of Architecture of the University of Michigan.

Urges Public Interest

Prof. Hyde, in explaining the purpose of the conference, strongly urged a more serious consideration, on the part of the public in general, of vital civic problems.

Unless we look at community problems consistently we are not doing our full duty as citizens, he told his listeners. True progress, he said, can only be promoted by an alert citizenry that has built up a backlog of public opinion.

Community problems, he admonished, are constantly changing and it behooves the public to be abreast of the times in promoting, to the best advantage, the welfare of local agriculture, tourist trade, forests, mining, etc.

Growth in population, he stressed, is not necessarily the most essential factor in community progress. Making the community a progressive and wholesome place in which to live was far more important.

Special things to watch for in looking ahead, he said were: enlightened citizens, individual initiative, industrial fortitude and civic integrity.

Discussion Groups Formed

The meeting then resolved itself into small round table discussions of various community problems.

Dinner was served under the direction of the high school domestic science department at the new gymnasium after which there was a meeting, open to the public in general in the high school auditorium at which Prof. Arthur Bromage, of the department of political science at the University of Michigan, addressed the gathering.

An Alderman Speaks

Prof. Bromage has the unique advantage of viewing political science from both a theoretical and practical standpoint, because he is an alderman—a member of the council of the city of Ann Arbor, and most of his discussion was based upon his actual experience in the council chambers. He let it be known that there is a wide difference between theory and practice in running a city government.

Cities and counties have to be operated on a solvent basis, he said, but pressure groups, constantly at work, make the way of an economy minded public servant very hard. He cited instances where pressure to increase the force of rookie policemen and to employ the services of an extra city nurse forced members of the council to act against their best judgement.

He stated that the running of a city government called for much more than looking after the current needs of a city. Those in charge of community affairs must always look to the future, he said, and added that one should be not tied down to following a general prescribed pattern in civic administration. He explained, for instance, he was not convinced that a city should go on adding more policemen to the force. There were duties, he said, that the city firemen could perform in this respect and he added that he believed that squad cars should be equipped with elementary fire fighting equipment.

For Flexible Codes

City planning, involving such matters as zoning, building codes, etc., cannot very well be confined to hard and fast rules.

Local self government, he said, is the cornerstone of democracy. Serving the public, is at best a thankless job. "Many a time I have wondered if I had any friends left," he said. Then he explained that he found satisfaction in this task from the contribution he has been able to make for the community's future.

Democracy, he said, is not automatic. It has to be guided, and made to work. It should be the aim of every civic minded person to help make democracy more perfect.

Findings of the various group discussions were reviewed at the court house meeting this morning. People from all parts of the county were present at the conference.

Second Of Series
Lenten Services
At Bethel Baptist

The second service in the current Community Lenten Series among the Protestant churches in Manistique will be held on Thursday night of this week. Meeting in the Bethel Baptist church at 7:30 p. m. the service will include pastors of local churches who will participate in various ways.

The speaker of the evening, the Rev. Peter Porta, is pastor of the Baptist church in Gulliver. His message is part of the plan of the Union Services to discuss "Questions of the Passion." The particular question Mr. Porta will bring to focus is "Lord, Is It I?" As pastor of the host church, the Rev. Mr. Harold Martinson states that special music of interest to all will be given by two musical groups within the church, one number by the mixed choir and one number by the girls' ensemble.

These Lenten services are being sponsored by the Manistique Ministerial Association and have as their purpose a two-fold goal: To prepare the people for a vital meaning of Good Friday and Easter and to promote cooperation between the Protestant churches of Manistique.

Small Barn On
Will Tanguay
Farm Destroyed

A barn on the Wilbert Tanguay farm, north of Cooks, was completely destroyed by fire Monday night.

An overturned lantern is said to have been the cause of the blaze. Loose hay in the structure was ignited and caused the fire to spread throughout the interior of the structure.

The Manistique fire truck responded to the call, but the fire by the time it arrived was pretty well burned out. All that could be done was to prevent a spread of the fire to other buildings.

The barn was a small structure and was not much in use at that time. There were no animals housed in it and the loss, therefore is confined to the building alone.

Rotarians Plan
Joint GatheringClubs Of Four Cities
To Meet At Nahma

Rotarians of Gladstone, Escanaba, Munising and Manistique are joining forces in the promotion of one big meeting to be held at Nahma Monday afternoon and evening.

The activities, which will be held at the Nahma club house, will begin with an inter-city bowling tournament about four o'clock in the afternoon. The banquet will be held at six and the rest of the evening will be given over to cards and other diversions.

Special features are scheduled for the banquet, chief of which will be an address by W. G. Caples, manager of industrial relations with the Inland Lime and Stone Co. Wallace Cameron, of Gladstone will preside as toastmaster.

A similar meeting, held at Nahma last year, was favored with a large attendance and a splendid program.

The Manistique Rotary club will be host to Monday night's meeting. Next Monday's noon meeting here will be dispensed with.

Plan Extensive
Repairs At Fish
Hatchery No. 2

The fish hatchery sub-station, north of the hatchery at Thompson will be out of commission for some time this coming season, according to word from Martin Miller, hatchery superintendent.

Repairs in the water conduit leading from the spring that supplies the hatchery with water will necessitate the temporary closing down of the plant. The recently hatched fry will be transported to rearing ponds at the Eckerman and Fox river stations.

The repair job, it is understood, will take about two months. Other repairs are expected to be made at that time but they have not as yet been announced.

Repairs were made on a large scale at the main hatchery last year. These were chiefly building of new rearing ponds and arranging the water supply system so that any particular pond could be drained without affecting the water stage in the other ponds.

The number of trout hatched at the hatcheries this year is expected to exceed past records.

Concert Here By
U. of Mich Band
Is Cancelled

The University of Michigan Concert band, which was scheduled to present a concert here on the evening of Monday, April 10, cannot fill its engagement.

Word to that effect was received here Monday by Russell Watson, of the local University of Michigan club. Watson stated that a conflict in dates would make it impossible for the band to be here. Promise was given, however, that the band would be here next year some time.

The band's appearance was to be in conjunction with a band and cheer leaders clinic in which high school units of the area were to participate. The clinic will be held as scheduled.

Liver Ailment
Cause Of DeathMiss Royer's Case
Not The First

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—University of Michigan hospital reported today that Miss Evelyn Ailene (Cappy) Royer, 22, of Gladstone died of "liver trouble."

An autopsy was performed today to determine the cause of her mysterious death Sunday. She had been ill five weeks and physicians had been unable to definitely diagnose her illness.

A hospital spokesman declined to amplify the "liver trouble" statement, except to say "it was not the first case of its kind."

Miss Royer was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Royer of Gladstone. Her mother granted permission for the autopsy in the hopes that lives of others might be saved.

Magazine Tells Of Schools In Delta

Extra copies of the Michigan Education Journal containing several articles on Delta county are available to interested persons at the office of Sup't Wallace Cameron.

Some excellent matter is contained in the publication, Sup't Cameron states. One is by Walter Gries, another by Dr. Lee M. Thurston and the report of Fred Vescolani on the Carney schools. There are several pictures of BIE day in Delta county.

Persons desiring a copy may phone the school, No. 5671.

Hospital Plan
Is 'Looking Up'Survey Director
Visits Gladstone

Hugh McGoldrick, director of the office of Hospital Construction and Survey in Michigan, conferred with members of the local hospital committee and several other citizens Tuesday afternoon and it was found that the possibility of obtaining federal assistance in construction of a hospital in Gladstone was not nearly as remote as was indicated in an earlier letter from Mr. McGoldrick.

Atty. Clair Hoehn, a member of the hospital committee, said McGoldrick advised them that Escanaba, because of already having an established hospital, has priority on federal aid should they wish to build; that he would contact authorities of St. Francis hospital and ask that they commit themselves to the construction of a 50-bed addition by 1953 and that if commitment is not forthcoming within a two-week period he will then give consideration to Gladstone's request for federal aid in building, if and when they can qualify to receive it.

McGoldrick said it was logical to have Gladstone as a hospital center if Escanaba will not enlarge present facilities.

The director has the authority to allocate funds, it was declared. "It looks good to me," Atty. Hoehn said following the conference. "I'm not worried about the other money (Gladstone's share). If we can get federal funds I see no reason why we cannot go forward with our plans," he stated.

In Delta county the government will furnish 60 per cent of hospital construction costs.

It is estimated that a 40 bed hospital would cost in the neighborhood of $600,000.00.

U. P. Fishing
Is PublicizedFord Times Tells Of Walleye Trolling

The Upper Peninsula in general and Delta County in particular gets some valuable publicity in a feature article entitled "Biggest Fishing Hole in America" written by Harold Titus appearing in the current issue of Ford Times.

Excellence of walleyed pike fishing in Little Bay de Noquet is stressed and is attributed to exceptional spawning conditions in 1943.

Also mentioned are trout trolling in Lake Superior off Munising and Grand Marais rainbow trout runs on the Two Heart River and the bass grounds at the Straits of Mackinac.

Much of Lake Superior water has never been explored by the sport fisherman and may provide new and excellent fishing grounds it was stated.

A colored map of the Upper Peninsula prepared by John Davenport indicating where various species of fish may be found accompanies the article. Cedar River, the Whitefish, Little and Big Bays de Noquet and other points are indicated on the map.

District Cage Tournaments Open Thursday

Braves Host To Class C

Big Crowds Likely At Gladstone

GLADSTONE—Although some excellent crowds have attended basketball games at the Gladstone high school gym this season even larger attendance is expected during the district Class C tournament which opens here Thursday evening and continues Friday and Saturday.

Participating in the tourney will be Gladstone, Norway, St. Joseph's of Escanaba, Bark River-Harris, Baraga of Marquette and Munising.

Gladstone by virtue of its 13-1 season's record is favored to cop the title. However, both St. Joseph's parochials and Norway will be strong contenders for the Braves were pressed to win from Norway in overtime during the regular season.

The Manistique game last Friday evening set the record for the season when 390 adults and 405 students paid a total of $296.25 to witness the battle. This topped the $293.25 gate of the St. Joseph-Gladstone game here earlier which had been high to that time.

The St. Joseph-Gladstone take was even higher by several dollars than that of the Escanaba-Gladstone game here this year. However, none threatened the all-time record gate which marked the Escanaba-Gladstone game here in 1946 when the gate totaled $314.00.

For that game even space was sold in the music room and spectators watched from behind glass in the almost sound-proof enclosure.

Baraga Parochial of Marquette will play Munising at 7:15 Thursday night in the opening game of the tournament and St. Joseph of Escanaba will play the Bark River-Harris team at 8:45 o'clock.

Lace Panty Gussie Breaks Off Romance And Shoots Leopard

CALCUTTA — (P) — Gertrude (Gorgeous Gussie) Morgan announced today her engagement with British businessman Anthony Davenport is definitely off by mutual consent.

The California tennis star, whose lace panties raised as many British eyebrows at Wimbledon last year as has her recent romance with the handsome Britisher, told a newsman:

"I still think Tony is a wonderful boy, but I guess it's one of those things."

Last month she had announced the engagement was still on despite objections by her mother, but that the wedding plans had been postponed. She met Davenport while playing in the India championship games in which she topped the women's singles cup.

Gussie leaves by plane tonight for Cairo to take part in tennis championships there.

She spent the last week as the guest of the Maharaja at Cooch Behar, where she shot a leopard—the first woman to do so in the area.

Mary Agnes Wall Runnerup With 74

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. — (P) — Feminine golfers began first round matches today in the 23rd annual South Atlantic women's tournament here.

Betsy Rawls, a 21-year-old University of Texas coed, shot a 71 for medalist honors in yesterday's qualifying play.

Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., was runnerup round with a 74.

The Bauer sisters — Alice and Marlene — slipped to 80s.

(By The Associated Press)

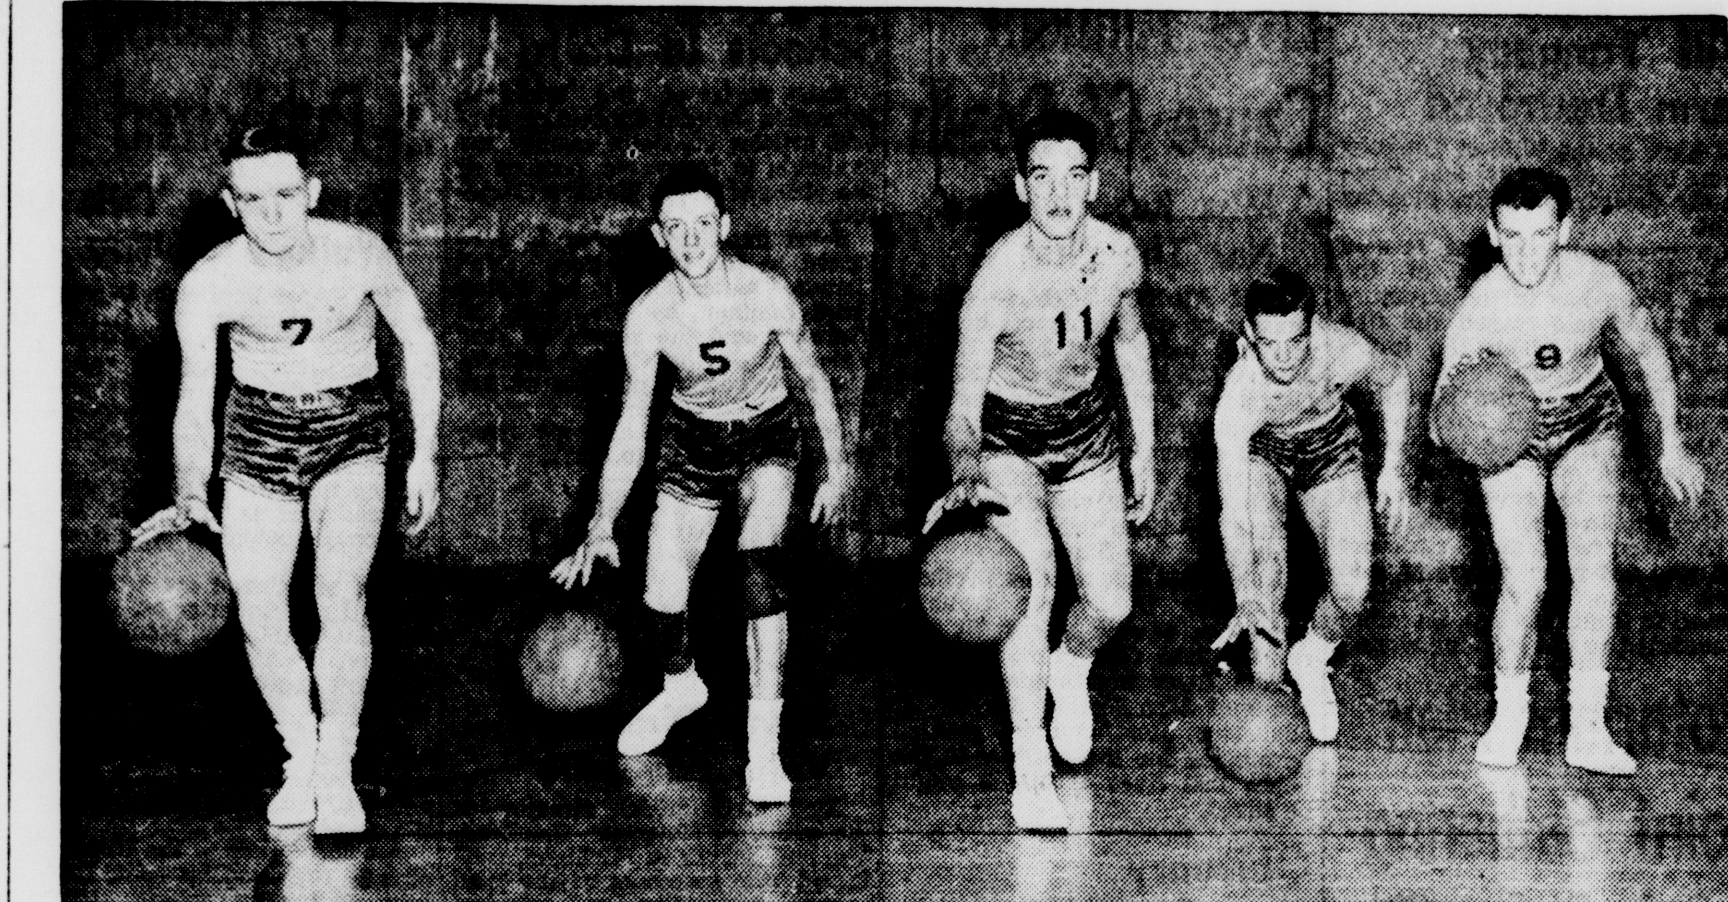

The "hotshot league" ended today as major league baseball clubs began spring training in Florida, Arizona and California.

The first league games will not be played until next month, but millions of fans immediately started following the camp doings of both veterans and rookies.

The fans recalled with enthusiasm the exciting 1949 pennant races when both the American and National league flags were decided on the last day of the season.

The World Champion New York Yankees and the National league pennant winner, the Brooklyn Dodgers, both will train in Florida where Commissioner A. B. Chandler asserted yesterday that 1950 would be the "greatest season baseball has ever had."

"I am happy to say that things are reasonably quiet just now in the administrative end of baseball," the commissioner said at West Palm Beach, Fla. where he visited Connie Mack, venerable manager of the Philadelphia Ath-

CLASS D HOSTS—The Rapid River high school basketball team will be host to the Class D teams of the district in the tournament opening Thursday night. Although Rapid River has lost only one game this year, to St. Joseph of Escanaba, a Class C contender, the tournament favorite at Rapid River is Vulcan, the

Indians Scalp Hawks, 14 to 2

Hockey Series Ends At Indoor Rink

The Escanaba Hawks bowed out of the intercity hockey series last night, suffering an ignominious 14-2 shellacking at the hands of the Gladstone Indians. The Gladstone victory gave the Indians the championship on three successive triumphs in a series that was scheduled for the best three out of five.

To add to the irony of the Hawks' defeat, one of their two goals was scored unintentionally by a Gladstone player, Clint Manger, while attempting to receive a pass near the net. The puck glanced off his skates and skipped into the goal.

The first period failed to indicate that the battle would develop into the rout that it ultimately did. Lefty Lake scored for Gladstone unassisted in the first half minute of play but Bud Provo of the Hawks tied it up later in the period on a play from scrimmage. The first period ended, 1-1.

The game really blew up in the second period. Gladstone scored seven times in this frame, the Hawks none. The Gladstone scoring in the second period follows: Sinclair, unassisted; Haga from Bovin, O'Leary from Rothchild, Rothchild from scrimmage; Erickson from Rothchild; Lake from Rose, Rothchild from Bovin.

The rout continued in the last period. Lake scored from Rose and Haga from Bovin. Then Erickson banged the puck home on a pass from Rothchild. Rothchild scored on a pass from Johnson. Lefty Lake scored on a pass from John Lake and Bovin scored with an assist by Sloan.

The game got plenty rough in the closing minutes and the Indians had only three men left on the ice when Manger missed the pass in front of the net, which resulted in the puck ricocheting into the net for a goal credited to the Hawks.

The game concluded the hockey schedule in Escanaba before a small crowd, estimated at 200 fans.

Santa Clara's appearance in the 1950 Open Bowl marks the third postseason bid for the Broncos; they played in 1937 and 1938 in the Sugar Bowl.

Dartball Tourney Opens On Thursday

Eighteen teams will compete in the Upper Peninsula dartball tournament, opening Thursday night at the city dartball center. The tournament will continue Friday and Saturday nights with the semi-finals and final games scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

Rocket-Sham Game Delayed

City Association Will Meet Tonight

The game between the Peshigo Rockets and the Shamrocks, originally scheduled for Thursday night, has been postponed. The following league games will be played instead: Merchants vs. Clairmont Transfer at 6:30; K. of C. vs. Mike's Bar at 7:30; People's Bar vs. Wait Window at 8:30.

The Escanaba Basketball Association is holding its regular monthly meeting in the art room of the junior high tonight at 7:30.

The Peshigo Rocket-Shamrock game will probably be played on Friday night. A definite decision on this date will be reached at the meeting tonight.

Last night's results in the City league follow:

K. of C. 44, Harnischfeger 38. (Upset of the season).

High point men—K. of C., Al Taylor, 23; Bob Tupper, 10.

Harnischfeger, Mickey Kuchenberg, 17; Roy Christenson, 8.

The K. of C. picked the league leaders as their victim in winning their second game of the season.

The Knights played good ball and turned on a well-earned victory.

Class D At Rapid River

Undefeated Vulcan Quintet Favored

RAPID RIVER — (Special) — Four of the six teams entered in the Class D district tournament to be held at Rapid River get into action on Thursday night.

In opening round games tomorrow night, Felch and Rock meet at 7:30 o'clock and Cocks goes against Powers at 9 o'clock. On Friday night Vulcan meets the winner of the first game and Rapid River takes on the winner of the Cocks-Powers game.

Vulcan, defending district champions, are again favored this year. The Miners winning 18 straight with a veteran team that possesses great speed and height was the only undefeated team in the Peninsula this year and is rated as the number one team in state Class D circles. This year's team compares with the 1947-48 team which won the first championship "breeze" through this tournament with little difficulty.

The sentimental favorite and darkhorse will be the host school, Rapid River. Winners of the Central league crown, the Rockets won 19 while losing only to St. Joe. The current Rocket team is without doubt the best to come out of the Rapid River school in the past fifteen years and will be aiming to bring the first championship home since 1934.

The four teams playing on Thursday are very evenly matched and should provide some interesting basketball. Powers and Rock have displayed their best form near the end of the season, while Cocks though having a good season record has slumped in its past three games.

John Sartoris of Bessemer and Paul Meli of Negaunee have been assigned to officiate this tournament. All games will start on Eastern Standard Time.

Goal Achieved

When Royal Oak, Mich., high school broke a 32-game basketball losing streak (the state's longest) by beating Wyandotte the other night, the spectators swarmed all over the players with a spontaneous display of affection . . . when the love feast broke up, one player, wandering happily off the floor, was heard to exclaim: "Gosh, I've been trying to kiss that gal for weeks."

Shorts and Shells

The U. of Toledo, which hasn't figured in the basketball tournament dope, hopes to interest the selectors when it plays Villanova and St. Francis of Brooklyn this week . . . the Elizabeth City, N. C., ball club has signed an outfielder named Jesse James. Sounds like a prospective umpire . . . Recruiting note: Dr. Sharvey G. Umbeck, former dean and tennis coach at William and Mary, is reported to be after Barney Wilson, W&M basketball coach, to head the physical education department at Knox college . . . Earl Cochell, the nation's No. 5 tennis player, has re-entered the U. of Southern California and will be eligible for competition this spring . . . George Easterling, Mississippi Southern freshman lightweight, is tabbed as a likely pro prospect by boxing writers who have seen him in action.

Cleaning The Cuff

Pitcher Hank Behrman showed up at the Giants' training camp with a blistered finger, due to bowling . . . Don Gehrmann may get a tussle in the Big Ten mile championship this weekend from Walt Jewsbury, Illinois junior who figured he was too slow for that route. When Walt finally tried the mile he ran 4:13.9 the first time out . . . Canadian football clubs have topped the best offers U. S. pro teams have made to Cornell's Pete Dorsey, but Pete likely will continue his medical studies instead of playing as a post-graduate . . . Coach Bill Dicke, describing Yank rookie Al Martin: "He's the kind who plays for keeps—all the way."

Natural Gas Boom Is Seen

Pipelines May Come To U. P. Someday

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(AP)—The natural gas industry made record breaking new gains in 1949. It plans to advance even more rapidly this year.

Government experts attribute the industry's continued rapid growth in great part to the extended uncertainty regarding the availability of coal.

Files of the federal power commission show that the agency during 1949 authorized construction of natural gas transmission facilities to add more than three billion cubic feet of daily delivery capacity to the nation's pipe lines. This unprecedented one year expansion—7,537 miles of new pipe line—was to have been accomplished for an estimated construction cost of 570 million dollars. It is designed to bring new gas—or additional gas—to more than 100 cities of 50,000 population or larger.

In the previous peak year of 1948, by contrast, the commission authorized the building of 5,500 miles of pipe line and other facilities—at an estimated cost of 424 million—to add about 1½ billion cubic feet of daily capacity to the supplies of 85 similarly large cities.

"And the end is not yet in sight," says Nelson Lee Smith, commission chairman.

Increase in pipe line capacity proposed in applications pending before the commission on Feb. 1 amount to 4.7 billion cubic feet of natural gas daily, he said. This is nearly half the total increase in capacity which has been authorized during the nine years since the present certificate system under the natural gas act became effective.

Smith recently told a house sub-committee that "not only has

Safer Cough Relief

When new drugs or old fail to stop your cold don't delay. Safe, dependable Creomulsion goes quickly to the seat of the trouble to relieve acute bronchitis or chest colds. Creomulsion has stood the test of more than 30 years and millions of users. It contains safe, proven ingredients, no narcotics and is fine for children. Ask your druggist for Creomulsion and take it promptly according to directions.

the natural gas pipe line business doubled in size during the last decade—there is every indication that its expansion will continue at a huge and rapid rate during the immediate future."

The pending applications call for building almost 14,000 miles of pipe line and almost 627,000 horsepower of compression capacity. The estimated cost is more than 900 million dollars.

EXPANDING NORTHWARD

Natural gas pipelines, it is expected will be extended northward from Milwaukee to Green Bay, Wis., Marinette, Wis., and Menominee, Mich., within a couple years. Further extension to communities along Highway U.S. 41 as far north as Escanaba is considered to be within the realm of probability.

New York City normally uses 1,200,000,000 gallons of water a day.

Garden

Church Services
GARDEN—Services at Garden include: St. John the Baptist, Lenten devotions at 7:30 Friday and Masses at 8 and 10 Sunday, March 5; Congregational, Sunday school at 10.

Birthday Party
Jane, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred LaVallee, entertained several friends Sunday afternoon to celebrate her eighth birthday. The children played games before sampling the pretty cake which was served with ice-cream. Many nice gifts from friends and relatives were presented to Jane.

Personals
Miss Priscilla Farley of Escanaba spent Sunday here with her parents, the George Farleys.

William Stratton was brought by ambulance Thursday from the St. Francis hospital where he had been confined several months after being painfully injured when a wood cutting machine fell on him.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Joke and Edward Joke visited Mrs. Joke at the St. Francis hospital Sunday to find her improving. Mrs. Arthur Cook of Nashville, Tenn., a registered nurse, daughter of the invalid, arrived Thursday night.

Jack Joke has missed several days of school because of a bad cold.

Mrs. William LaBelle of Flint visited relatives here and at Fayette during the weekend.

Miss Lois Kreshefske of Chicago is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kreshefske of Van's Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Horning visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Carlstrom of Manistique Sunday.

Mrs. Wesley Horning, Mrs. Osie Hazen, Mrs. Nora Lester, Mrs. William Winter, Mrs. Clyde Heafield and Mrs. E. Heafield attended the World Day of Prayer service at the Cooks Congregational church Friday afternoon.

Ernest Bernier of Escanaba motored here Saturday and took his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bernier sr., for a weekend in the city and was accompanied by his wife and three boys when the return trip was made Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tatrow and family and Mrs. Tatrow's mother, Mrs. Johnson visited relatives in Gladstone enroute to Escanaba Saturday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Ernest Tatrow and Mrs. Charles Tatrow who visited the latter's daughter, Mrs. Edward Oliver and family of Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rasmussen visited with the George Rasmussens of Manistique Monday.

Miss Albertine Godbout is confined to her home with a severe cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Thinnies of Gladstone are spending several

Escanaba Eagles Hold Initiation Sunday At 2 p. m.

Initiation of a class of candidates in Escanaba Aerie 1088, Fraternal Order of Eagles, is scheduled for Sunday, March 5, at 2 p. m. in the Eagles clubrooms at 608 Ludington street.

A membership drive has been going on since January 10, between four teams whose captains were John Laundre, Henry Dahm, sr., Paul Verhamme of Gladstone, and John Moniowezak of Bark River. Up to last Tuesday, John Laundre's team was leading, followed closely by the Henry J. Dahm, sr. team.

When you are making a standard cake with butter or margarine have the fat at room temperature before you cream it.

Following the initiation there will be a rabbit supper with all the trimmings served at 6:00 p. m. The two losing teams will cook and serve to the two winning teams.

The credit for hunting the rabbits which will be served at this supper goes to Albert Cloutier, Howard Vanierberghe and Roy O'Brien who have hunted every Sunday when the weather was agreeable.

President Clark Williams said he believed that this Sunday class of candidates will be one of the largest to be initiated during his year as worthy president. Another special order of business which will come up at this meeting is the election of a delegate to a special state meeting which will be held in Lansing, March 19.
